EXPLOSION ENTOMBS OVER FORTY MINERS

CANADIANS LEAVING U.S.A. FOR HOME

TORIES SPEND OVER MILLION DOLLARS A DAY

$54,000,000 Taken From Government Treasury Since Meighen Seized Office

No Parallel in British History of Usurpation, Says King

Saint John, N.B., Aug. 26.—The Meighen Government was providing itself with spending money at the rate of $1,000,000 a day by Governor-General's warrants, declared Mr. Mackenzie King here last night at the second meeting of his campaign in the Maritime Provinces. "A further violation of office and power" was the approval of a $3,500,000 contract for a Canadian National Railways hotel in Vancouver, awarded without the calling of tenders and during an election.

REFUSED SUPPLIES

Mr. King drew attention to the fact that the present Government was continuing in office and administering the affairs of the country under Governor-General's warrants, thereby spending public money without Parliament. Yet parliament had declined to vote Mr. Meighen's Government any supply and had declared by resolution that its members were holding office illegally and that the Government had no right to exist.

$1,000,000 A DAY

"The total amount which has been taken from the treasury under Governor-General's warrants up to the beginning of the present week, August 22, is more than $54,000,000. In other words Mr. Meighen's government has been providing themselves, with spending money at the rate of more than $1,000,000 a day, though Parliament has expressly declared they are not entitled to a single dollar. There is no parallel in British history of so great usurpation of office and power," said Mr. King.

NO PARALLEL

Mr. Meighen probably will contend that when Sir Wilfrid Laurier appealed to the country on reciprocity the Government during part of that time was carried on under Governor-General's warrants. The cases, however, were in no way parallel. Sir Wilfrid Laurier when he appealed to the country, enjoyed the full confidence of the House of Commons; his administration had encountered no defeat and he was strongly supported in the House. Moreover, earlier in the year bfore Sir Wilfrid had left for the Imperial Conference, Parliament had voted supplies for a considerable portion of the year and to cover a period of adjournment to permit Sir Wilfrid to be present at the coronation of King George. In the case of Mr. Meighen, Parliament had never voted his Government a dollar but at the very time it was asking for supplies to carry on, declared it had no right to exist.

ANOTHER MILLION

Mr. King said he understood that another Governor-General's warrant for additional millions will follow shortly.

"Another violation of all sense of right and decency of which the Government is guilty in its approval within the past fortnight of a contract of over $3,500,000 for the construction by the Canadian National railways of a hotel in the city of Vancouver," said the Liberal Leader.

WOULD JUSTIFY SUSPICION

When Sir Wilfrid appealed to the country in 1911, tenders had been called for the building of ships of the Canadian naval service both on the Atlantic and on the Pacific coast. The contracts were ready to be awarded when the dissolution of Parliament was being discussed. Sir Wilfrid Laurier took the view, however, that to award a contract for

McGEER'S REPLY NETTLES HECKLER

Turns Tables on Voter Talking of Orientals in Canneries

Pender Harbor, Aug. 26.—G. G. McGeer, K.C., Liberal candidate for Vancouver North, turned the tables at his recent meeting here on a heckler who accused Mackenzie King's Government of failing to enforce its own legislation for curtailment of Japanese monopoly in the fishing industry.

"If the laws are not being enforced do not blame the King Government but blame the big cannery interests who oppose them—you'd better send me to Ottawa to see about it," replied the Liberal candidate.

"Yes, the cannery men like Japs—because they're cheaper," rejoined the heckler.

"You wouldn't vote for any man who favors Oriental labor, would you?" inquired Mr. McGeer.

"I would not," was the emphatic reply.

"As a big canneryman, General McRae is employing Orientals right now, so that's your vote I've got anyway," replied Mr. McGeer.

RESCUE PARTY RUSHES TO JOHNSTOWN PIT

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 26.—More than forty miners were entombed this afternoon in an explosion at Clymer, Pa., according to reports received here. It was said that two bodies have been recovered. A message received at the United States Bureau of Mines later advised that sixty men had been entombed. An automobile rescue truck, fully equipped and carrying a crew of trained rescuers, left immediately for the scene.

Reports from Clymer, which is about nine miles from the mine, were that one body had been brought out of the workings and that seven miners had been rescued.

HELD FOR PLOTTING MEXICO EXPEDITION

Gen. Enrique Estrada, former Mexican Secretary of War, who was arrested at San Diego with 100 other men on charges of plotting a revolution against President Calles. An armored car and large quantities of ammunition to be used against Mexican towns along the border were captured by the sheriff at San Diego.

Los Angeles, Aug. 26.—Jose E. Healey, Irish-Mexican newspaperman, and asserted secretary to General Estrada, was held in jail here to-day for lack of $10,000 bail following his arraignment on charges of aiding his employer in plans for a punitive expedition into Mexico which ended with the arrest of Estrada near San Diego several days ago.

The complaint against Healey alleged that he conspired with Estrada and two unnamed persons against Mexico, negotiated for the purchase of four aeroplanes from the Ryan Air Line of San Diego, and assisted in negotiations for trucks and other materials of war that have been seized durnig the last week.

CANADIANS' TREK HOMEWARD ALARMS U.S. INDUSTRIES

New England Operators Fear Labor Shortage as Canadians Return to Country

While Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen is going about Canada talking of the "hemorrhage" of Canadian immigration to the United States," Canadians are returning here from south of the boundary so rapidly that many United States industries are alarmed at the scarcity of labor.

This is made clear in The Lewiston, Maine, Daily Sun of August 10, a copy of which reached here to-day. Published in the New England industrial areas where many Canadians have settled in the last half century, The Sun declares the movement of people back to this country is reaching large proportions. It says:

"According to reports received here from the northeastern part of the state, Canadians who have been employed in lumber and railroad operations are leaving for their homes, where it is claimed they can get as high wages as they have been receiving in Maine. So great is the exodus that it is feared that industrial projects in that section of the state will be hampered.

"It is claimed that competition for labor is just as strong on the Canadian side of the boundary as it is in Maine."

Fingerprints May Convict Murderer

Somerville, N.J., Aug. 26.—A card which was on the body of the Rev. Edward W. Hall when it was found with that of his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, September 16, 1922, is in the possession of the state and fingerprints on it correspond to those of one of the three people held for the murder.

Senator Alexander Simpson announced the finding of the card, which had been reported missing, at a hearing before Justice Parker this morning for the admission to bail of Henry Carpender and Willie Stvens, held for the murder.

Scion of Krupp In Police Coils

Albuquerque, N.M., Aug. 26. — A young man claiming to be Baron Frederick E. Von Krupp, scion of the famous German arms manufacturers, was arrested here yesterday on a warrant telegraphed by Denver police that charges him with issuing worthless cheques. He told police here he would waive extradition and return to Denver to face the charge of issuing a worthless cheque to the Ford agency in Denver.

NEW REGISTRAR IN NANAIMO APPOINTED

Victor C. Fawcett of the court registry, Victoria, has been appointed Registrar of the Supreme and County Courts in Nanaimo County, it was announced at the Parliament Buildings to-day. His appointment will take effect September 1.

Alleyne Dodd will be Deputy Registrar.

CITY IS URGED TO PUT WILLOWS ON PAYING BASIS

City Should Operate Grounds as Twelve-month Amusement Park, it is Urged

B.C. Agricultural Association Would be Assured Freedom For Annual Fair

In suggestions laid before the city authorities this week the City is urged to take over control of the Willows Exhibition Grounds, and to operate the same as an all-year-round amusement park.

Playing fields, tennis courts, bowling greens, and all manner of field and track events could be accommodated; in conjunction with a permanent Home Products Exhibit to remain in the buildings the year around, it is urged. With little expense the grounds could be made attractive, and a paying proposition, contend those who are advancing the proposals.

The B.C. Agricultural Association, suggest the originators of the plan, would benefit from an assurance of undisturbed possession of the grounds for the purposes of the annual fair, and could be given free access to the grounds for that occasion, it is argued.

Just what action the proposals will meet with in the City Council is not known, as five members of the council are now at Vernon, attending the convention of B.C. Municipalities.

Attractive possibilities of controlling the Willows Grounds itself were first shown to the city in recent negotiations when tentative inquiries were made for the purchase of the site outright. The council refused to consider a sale, and deferred argument on the problem of an alternative method of making use of the facility which costs the city slightly under $9,000 a year.

THREE CALIFORNIANS PINNED UNDER CAR DROWNED IN DITCH

Long Beach, Cal., Aug. 26—Russell A. McKinley, blind attorney; a man believed to be John Law, and a third unidentified man, were drowned here to-day when their automobile plunged into a ditch filled with water. Search is being made for the body of a fourth man believed to have been a passenger in the car. The bodies of the men were pinned underneath the car.

TWO KILLED IN MINE

South Porcupine, Ont., Aug. 26.—Two men are dead and two others are seriously injured in an explosion in the Dome mines to-day. The dead: Emil Houthood, twenty-five, and Henri Dassich, forty.

William Thomas, was probably fatally injured. In addition John Jolokiuk, an Armenian, thirty-seven years old, lost the sight of both his eyes.

Complete details are lacking.

ITALY ABOLISHES CITY ELECTIONS

Rome, Aug. 26.—Every city and town and village in Italy will be governed by a representative appointed by the National Fascist Government under the terms of a new decree which will be adopted on August 30 by the Council of Ministers, according to well-informed political circles. Elections of all sorts will be abolished and notable economies, it is expected, will be achieved, the new system meaning the revocation of the right of administrative suffrage granted to women by a recent law.

NOT NEW MESSIAH YOUNG HINDU SAYS

World-Medium For the "Voice of the Godhead"

Speaks With Oxford Accent; Wears Occidental Clothes

New York, Aug. 26.—A small, swarthy-skinned man, walked down the gangplank of the steamship Majestic ytsterday, confident that his visit in this country will bring about a radical change in the religious life of the nation.

He was Jiddu Krishnamurti, Hindu theosophist, hailed by his followers as the world medium for the "voice of the Godhead."

The visitor's dress and manners were no different from those of any young Hindu dressed in Occidental garb.

His grey suit, striped shirt, blue tie and tan shoes were strictly twentieth century in style. He speaks with an Oxford accent.

His arrival was a quiet event. He was met at the steamship only by reporters, a press agent and the head of the American Theosopohical Society.

Krishnamurti has been called the "New Messiah," but he made it clear that he makes no claim to that title. He declined to discuss with reporters any spiritual message he is bringing to this country. Instead he referred them to a small pamphlet which was distributed aboard the steamship. After a lecture in Chicago before members of the Star in the East, of which he is head, he probably will go into retreat on his ranch near Ojai, California.

Mrs. Annie Besant, eighty-year-old International President of the Theosophical Society, who accompanied Krishnamurti on his voyage, will tell people in thirty-four cities of the "coming of the new world teacher."

"We do not claim for him Messiahship," Mrs. Besant said. "He is the teacher of the world. Since 1909 we have known that he has been selected as the vehicle of voice of the Godhead. I believe that through him we are at beginning of a new civilization such as his occurred five times in the history of the Aryan race."

Krishnamurti said of himself:

"I am different from other men. I never touch alcohol or meat. I play golf and tennis, and I swim. I have studied all the great writers."

FINDS PEACE RIVER DEVELOPING DESPITE LACK OF RAILWAYS

Barrow Aids Settlers to Import Cattle and Start Mixed Farming Industry

Country at Large Has False Idea About Egress of Residents, He Declares

"If I were a young man and were planning to settle in British Columbia I would take up land in the Peace River country regardless of its lack of railway communication and its relative isolation," said Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, when he returned here to-day after his first visit to the rich northern areas of the Province.

"It is true the settlers there have to haul their produce on an average seventy miles to the head of steel, but even at that they are progressing and their land is amazingly fertile," the Minister affirmed. "It seems to me, indeed, that the rest of the Province and Canada generally have a false impression about conditions there. There is no trek of settlers out of the country. On the contrary more land is being brought under the plough all the time. At Pouce Coupe alone thirteen new binders had to be imported this Summer to handle the big grain crop."

RAILWAY VITAL NEED

The first requirement of the Peace River country, apart from the ever-present need of a railway, is more mixed farming, Mr. Barrow declared. The settlers there, he said, should produce more concentrated products than grain so as to cut down the cost of transportation over long distances by stage. At conferences with the settlers he urged the introduction of more cattle and hogs, and made preliminary arrangements for the importation of stock through the Government - assisted co-operative creamery operating near Pouce Coupe.

WOULD DEVELOP FAST

"Given a railway, the Peace River country will expand in rapid fashion, produce an enormous crop and support a population of very large proportions," Mr. Barrow affirmed. "The climate there is ideal for many branches of farming, and is better than many of the well-settled and prosperous areas around Edmonton. The grain there ripens earlier, avoiding frosts, and I noticed the potatoes have suffered far less from frost. The logical route for a railway, as the British Government has always contended, is westward through British Columiba, I believe."

HOMES WRECKED BY STORM IN LOUISIANA

Package Steamer Sinks; Rice, Corn, Sugar and Cotton Crops Damaged

New Orleans, La., Aug. 26.—Property damage in excess of $1,000,000 two deaths and an inestimable amount of minor damage was the toll of the storm which roared across the Eastern Louisiana coast last night, reports said to-day.

Damage to the rice, corn, sugar cane and cotton crops will reach $1,000,000 it is estimated, and business houses and residences at Morgan City were damaged more than $150,000.

Houses were unroofed at Lockport, many homes were blown down at Houma, severe damage done to the Raceland sugar house, and the steamer Houma of the Bradenford Transportation Company was badly damaged.

The river packet steamer Terrebonne sank in the Mississippi River six miles from Donaldsonville last night.

The Terrebonne was loaded with a cargo of rice. The crew, composed of about forty men, reached shore in safety.

High tides caused water to overflow at Morgan City, Lockport, Houma and Raceland. The greatest fury of the storm was at Townsend, in Lower Terrebonne and La Fourche, Ship Captains said.

MEIGHEN AND MINISTERS HOSTS TO FRIENDS ON CRUISES OF MARGARET

Master of Vessel Tells Customs Inquiry How Conservative Leader's Party Made Trip During the 1921 Election Campaign; Conservative Minister of Customs Took Friends for Summer Excursion

Halifax, Aug. 26 (Canadian Press).—The trips of the Customs steamship Margaret were again the subject of inquiry when the Customs Commission resumed.

Capt. Lecouvee, master of the vessel, told of taking Right Hon. Arthur Meighen and party, which included Mrs. Meighen, Hon. F. B. McCurdy, then Minister of Public Works, and Hon. Andre Fauteaux, Solicitor-General, from Pictou, N.S., to Georgetown, P.E.I., and then back from Summerside to Shediac, during the election campaign of 1921.

FRIENDS ABOARD

In addition to these named, Captain Lecouvee said there was a lady friend of Mrs. Meighen's on board and some newspapermen. The Margaret had left Pictou at 5.40 p.m. on October 9 and had reached Georgetown three hours later. The distance was 42 miles. Then, under directions from Mr. McCurdy, she had proceeded to Summerside where she took on the same party on October 11, bringing them to Shediac. Later she returned to Summerside with Mr. Fauteaux.

Captain Lecouvee told of another trip which Hon. J. D. Reid, former minister of Customs, took on the Margaret in the Summer of 1914, the Summer that the Margaret was acquired by the customs.

FOR SEVERAL DAYS

Mr. Reid had on board "three gentlemen friends." He had cruised to Saguenay, Tadousac and Down to Gaspe, the cruising taking several days. The captain explained that accounts for food required for both parties were rendered in the usual way by the steward. It was customary for these accounts to be paid by the ministers when they used the steamer.

When Mr. Reid made his cruise, the captain was only the second officer, so he could not say whether or not the vessel should have been engaged elsewhere. When Mr. Calder opened the matter of the Margaret trips, Commissioner Lemieux asked what object there was in going into this phase of the matter. Mr. Calder replied that he thought, in fairness to Hon. Jacques Bureau, it should be shown that the boat was used by other ministers for trips. There was no intention of talking about "joy sails" but it should be shown that the vessel was diverted from her regular duties when she was under the control of different Ministers.

In answer to R. L. Calder, K.C., commissioner counsel, the captain said he had no information that he was required elsewhere when ordered to take the Meighen party on board. He had been cruising in the Straits of Canso, sixty miles from Pictou when he got the order.

Inspector Charles W. Lenauze of the Royal Canadian Mounter Police, in charge of the district comprising New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, was the first witness before the Customs Commission this morning. He explained that he had twenty-eight men under him but all but two were engaged in guarding naval property. The two remaining were available for customs work and one of these, Sergeant Blakeney, was equipped with a writ of assistance. He had received news of the appointment of several preventive officers for the customs some years ago, said Inspector Lenauze. One of the appointees had previously been convicted of smuggling. He had never received any information of value from these men and had received information which had sent him out on a "wild goose chase." He did not think this information had been given him deliberately. He thought that the port of Halifax was well looked after by the customs officials.

He asked leave to submit a written memorandum covering difficulties encountered by him in the suppression of smuggling and this was agreed to.

"Have you ever had evidence that liquor manufactured or imported into Canada under bond and exported under bond was subsequently landed in Canada?" asked Mr. Calder.

"Yes."

The inspector said he knew of one case in which a prosecution instituted against a smuggler had been abandoned by direction received from Ottawa.

This was the case of a man called Rabinovitch, trading under the name of the Franco-Canadian Import Company. The prosecution had been instituted by advice of counsel and on instructions received from Ottawa, and it had been abandoned on instructions transmitted to him through the Commissioner of Mounted Police at Ottawa. Apparently this was a "transmitted request."

NEEDS LAND FORCE

Inspector Lenauze supported recommendations of W. C. Acker, collector of customs at Halifax, made yesterday in regard to control of smuggling by land. He declared that if he had the force mentioned by Mr. Acker yesterday, to police the coast line, he could stop smuggling.

The case of the schooner D. C. Mulhall was referred to. The inspector said that he felt they had enough evidence to allow seizure of this ship.

"I am entirely of your opinion," interjected Mr. Calder. The inspector explained that a legal point was raised as to the identity of the vessel and the case was lost.

Sergeant Blakeeny was the next witness. He and another man were employed in customs work. The sergeant gave evidence in regard to the Franco-Canadian Import Company. Rabinovitch, of this company, was "illegally trafficking in liquor," using a large motor truck to transport the goods. The company was doing a legitimate business part of the time. By means of information gained from an informer, he had built up what he considered to be a good case again Rabinovitch, and prosecution was planned.

STILL OPEN

The case was submitted to counsel who said it was a good case. He had laid an information against Rabinovitch and obtained a summons, but when he came to serve the summons he could not find Rabinovitch. He had been informed that Rabinovitch had gone to Ottawa and then came instructons from Ottawa to proceed no further with the case. It was still open.

Mr. Calder asked who was associated with Rabinovitch in this company. The witness replied that J. P. Mitchell of Halifax was associated with Rabinovitch.

WHERE'S BLUE RUIN CRY, MACLEAN ASKS

Shows How Manufactures Have Grown Under Liberal Regime

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Declaring that the paramount qualities needed in the public man of to-day were honesty, intelligence, industry and tolerance, Hon. J. D. MacLean, British Columbia Minister of Finance and Education, lauded Paul McD. Kerr, Liberal candidate in South Vancouver, as possessing these qualities in a large degree before electors of that riding at a meeting held last night at Collingwood.

Dr. MacLean spoke at some length, dealing with Conservative claims, their criticism of ex-Premier King, and their record while in office.

Recalling the "blue ruin" cry of the Conservatives in the last election, the minister quoted official statistics showing that in the four years of Liberal admnistration at Ottawa. Manufactures had increased 24 per cent.; mining production, 24 per cent.; exports, 15 per cent.; life insurance written, 27 per cent., and car loadings, which he regarded as the most reliable barometer of prosperity, 11½ per cent.

"That surely proves," he said, "that the country made great progress under the Liberal administration."

MUDSLINGING

The Conservatives were more engaged in "mudslinging" than in the discussion of policies, Dr. MacLean said, citing that Mr. Meighen in his campaign keynote speech at Ottawa, had devoted three-fourths of his time to the customs question. But no party in the thirty years of his political life, he went on, ever succeeded as the result of a slander campaign.

Referring to the years 1896 and 1921 as years which witnessed the end of lengthy Conservative regimes, Dr. MacLean said that on both occasions unemployment was rife throughout Canada.

BRINGS UNEMPLOYMENT

"As a matter of fact," he said, "the high tariff policy which the Conservatives believe in, bring unemployment."

Dealing with the constitutional question, the speaker declared that high British legal authorities regarded it as vitally important. It was, he thought, as important as if Mr. Meighen had sought to abolish the secret ballot or the right of franchise to the Canadian citizen.

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Thieves pried their way into the newsstand at the Canadian National depot during Tuesday evening and stole the cash-box containing $170, according to a report made to the police by the railway authorities.

SUMAS LAND TO GO ON MARKET NOW AT INCREASED PRICE

Demand so Heavy Barrow Plans Upward Revision; New Roads Constructed

Prices Obtainable Answer Complaint That Reclamation Cost Too Much

In the heart of the Sumas reclamation scheme, where Conservative politicians declared the waters of Sumas Lake were still lying on the land, the Government of British Columbia will soon be selling fertile farming areas for more than $200 an acre, although the cost of reclamation was less than $100 an acre.

This land will be put on the market in the Autumn, Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, announced to-day. It is planned to put on a selling campaign to dispose of a large acreage, the Minister said. The land, he explained, was taken off the market in the Spring so that its fertility could be tested with a clover crop and roads built through it.

FERTILITY IS BREAT

"The fertility o fthe land has been proved beyond question," Mr. Barrow said. "The roads are being completed now and we shall be able to sell more land soon. It will be necessary to revise the prices upward, however, and I plan to call a conference of the land owners shortly and ascertain their views on prices. It will be surprising to many owners who have been complaining o fthe cost of reclamation to know that we have so many demands for the land that prices must be raised far above these expenses."

OAK BAY SCHOOL MOTION REJECTED

Municipalities of B.C. Against Extending Scope of Trustees

Vernon, B.C., Aug. 26.—The convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities was advised by its resolutions committee to adopt a recommendation from Langley for amendment of chapter 179 of the Municipal Act in such a way as to facilitate levying of local license fees on real estate men doing business in districts outside of their own. Exception was taken to this as carrying the principle of local licensing too far and also discriminating improperly with regard to the real estate business. The proposal was held over until next year.

A recommendation was submitted by the resolution committee to take the place of numerous others relative to cost of education. This asked the Government to levy a tax for educational purposes on all wage-earners, and after a brisk debate was adopted by a large majority.

At the final sitting the convention agreed with Burnaby that widows' pensions should be on a more liberal scale and with less restrictions. Oak Bay desired that municipal councils in areas of less than 8,000 population should be enabled to take over the work of school trustees, but from this the convention dissented.

At the request of North Vancouver the convention went on record as favoring the opening of municipal polls at 9 a.m. instead of 8 a.m., where the latter hour now stood, but the delegates would not consent to the closing of polls before 8 p.m. Another North Vancouver resolution endorsed was that all new building work, installing of plumbing and electric light fittings and other improvements should only be done under permit from the municipality, no exemption being allowed because of cost of work being under $100.

The convention rejected a proposed amendment to the law relating to the fixing of a date for tax sales, submitted by Point Grey. Eight other resolutions from the same source were referred to the executive to discuss with the Point Grey council.

Reeve T. Reid of Surrey was elected president.

Invitations for the next convention were reecived from New Westminster, Nanaimo and North Vancouver. Nanaimo was chosen.

Live One Day at a Time!

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

WE were walking down street together one morning, my neighbor and I, and after the usual greeting of neighbors about never seeing each other and how busy everybody was, I began the Calamity Jane growl about not knowing what I was going to do if things did not let up and give me a rest.

I dissertated on Spring, how I hated to see it come, and how, instead of getting out and watching things grow, as I had a mind to, I had to look after house-cleaning, getting clothes ready for the family for warm days, packing away Winter things, making things over, and all the rest of it.

I growled and growled and growled and the more I talked the madder I got at the way Spring was treating me.

Suddenly I remembered! "Oh, how's Jim?" I asked. "Is his leg all right?" My neighbor sighed, "I'm afraid he'll always be a little lame," she said. "I've given him all my time. But he's pretty well out of the woods now so I can give the rest of the family some attention. Philip was scolding last night"—Philip is her husband—"he says I can only do one thing at a time. But I told him that I just do the best I can."

I looked at her, quietly efficient and calm. I knew that her family would not lack any attention, and that her husband was a nervous kicker. Her son had had an automobile accident and she had cared for him herself. I stood corrected. The quiet, unintentional rebuke was a whole sermon.

Years ago I heard practically the same sermon from the pulpit. The text was, "Do that which thy hand findeth to do."

Said the minister, "Live one day at a time. Were I to think to-day what I had to do to-morrow, I could not carry on."

Think it over. It is a wonderful help to a busy person. Forget about to-morrow.

O'Halloran Spoke Before Electors of Granby Last Night

C. H. O'Halloran, Liberal candidate in the Nanaimo riding, last night addressed an appreciative audience at Granby.

Mr. O'Halloran was supported on the platform by Carew Martin, Liberal candidate in the Victoria constituency, and Thomas Booth of Nanaimo.

The speakers were well received. Mr. Booth touched upon many vital questions of the day.

The feeling of the meeting was strongly in favor of Mr. O'Halloran.

J. B. Stewart of Granby asted as chairman.

The man who thought a buggy was good enough

In the old days a solid, conservative citizen might sniff and tell you he didn't read advertising.

He didn't think so much of the horseless carriage, either. The telephone was new fangled and an insult to the mails.

As for radio, aeroplanes, wireless photography—if they had been born then he probably would have thought them a bit immoral.

But he's changed. He's been educated. His point of view has been made broader and more modern. He has been civilized—by the automobile, the telephone, radio, advertising.

Every single one has opened up new paths for him, taught him new things. Advertising, especially.

Advertising tells him the newest things to wear, the best things to eat. Advertising tells his wife how to make a home up-to-date and attractive. Advertising tells him the prices to pay for things he buys, saves him from the old fashioned ways of doing business—helps him live well, keeps him modern.

Advertising can help you. The advertisements in this newspaper are here to tell you many things that make life more comfortable, more interesting, happier. Read them faithfully. They'll keep you abreast of the times. They'll prevent you from becoming the type of old fogy—who—sniff!—doesn't read advertising.

Advertising is the key to modernity

"Put the colour on from inside"

Jane: I wish, oh, I wish—
Maisie: Wish away, my Cinderella, and I'll be fairy godmother and bring it all true.
Jane: I wish I had a skin like yours.
Maisie: Why, a little thing like that needn't—
Jane: It's all very well for you to talk, Miss Roses-and-Cream, with that darling satiny radiance in your cheeks and—oh, be an angel, Maisie dear, and tell, do, please!
Maisie: What's the use? You'd only laugh. It's so absurdly cheap.
Jane: Cheap? A complexion like yours? I simply don't believe it! Why, when I think of all the money I've spent — bottles of this and boxes of that, powder and cream and gracious knows what —and then look at myself in the mirror, all anyhow and blotchy, I just feel like creeping away into a corner and crying my eyes out.
Maisie: Why not get a real complexion instead of a sham one?
Jane: Yes, yes—but how?
Maisie: By putting the colour on—and taking the blotches away — from inside. And it costs you less than a half a cent a day.
Jane: But how—Maisie dear, surely you don't mean Kruschen Salts?
Maisie: That's just what I do mean —the little daily dose. It's the only complexion aid I use.
Jane: And it really does all that?
Maisie: Really and truly. You see, Kruschen makes your blood pure and keeps it pure; and so long as your blood-stream runs clear and strong, blotches and blemishes simply can't appear to spoil your skin. Now promise me you'll buy a bottle and try it for yourself.
Jane. Of course, I'll promise. Why, the very thought of having a complexion like yours gives me "that Kruschen feeling!"

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea
Put as much in your breakfast cup as will lie on a 10 cent piece. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

Kruschen, unlike any other saline preparation, is a scientific combination of the six salts your body needs for its proper health —to cleanse it of all clogging waste matter, to keep the blood pure and vigorous, to brace up and vitalize the whole system. If you led an ideally healthy life in the open air, with plenty of exercise and no worries, your body would extract these vital salts for itself from your food. But the artificial life you lead prevents this. Hence the need for the "little daily dose" of Kruschen. Start now taking a tiny pinch—as much as will cover a 10 cent piece — in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea every morning. It's tasteless taken this way, but it makes you, and keeps you, healthy, cheerful and energetic — gives you in fact "that Kruschen feeling." Every druggist sells Kruschen. A 75c bottle contains 160 doses — nearly enough for six months. Get a bottle to-day and begin a new life to-morrow. It's the "little daily dose" that does it.

Vendors Fined on McPherson Article

Los Angeles, Aug. 26.—Four newsvendors convicted in municipal court on a charge of selling obscene literature in connection with an article appearing in a San Diego newspaper relative to the disappearance of Aimee Semple McPherson, were yesterday sentenced to pay a fine of $100 each or spend 20 days in jail. Each paid the fine.

INFORMANT GAVE WRONG INFORMATION AGAINST LIBERALS

Doucet, Retracting, Tells Why Margaret Charges Were Laid

Jumped at Conclusion Too Quickly, Says Commission Counsel

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 26.—A. J. Doucet, former Conservative member of Parliament for Kent, N.B., told Sir Francois Lemieux yesterday just what he had said from the public platform in regard to the cruise of the Margaret and why he had said it. He had made his reference to the cruise of the Margaret in two speeches at St. John and Bridgewater when accompanying the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, on his Maritime Province tour, he said.

"As far as I can remember, I said in St. John that the Margaret was taken off her course to Three Rivers, where she took Hon. Jacques Bureau and a party of eight on board," he said. Mr. Doucet informed the commissioner that the vessel had visited the Magdalen Islands and other points, being away for a period of six weeks, during which time the coasts which she should have been patrolling were unprotected.

He had received his information from a person whom he thought should have been in possession of absolutely reliable information on the matter, said Mr. Doucet.

At this point, R. L. Calder, K.C., commission counsel, intervened. "I may say in extenuation of Mr. Doucet that when I heard the name of this informant, if this same information had been given to me by the same informant, I would have considered it a proper matter for investigation, and that it is not unlikely that a layman who jumps at conclusion a little more quickly than a legal mind, might be misled," he said.

At this point, R. L. Calder, K.C., commission counsel, said that he had received similar information and could quite understand how Mr. Doucet had gathered a wrong impression.

Mr. Doucet admitted the page of the log book covering July 18, 1923. It was page 57. He read from it this quotation:

"2.30 afternoon. Left with launch, Hon. J. Bureau and Hon. Ernest Lapointe and party. Took them round harbor."

"Where" queried the commissioner.

"At Charlottetown," replied Mr. Doucet. He had concluded that Mr. Lapointe had come on board the vessel at Three Rivers or Quebec, and this substantiated by the information which he had received from the unnamed party had led him to the conclusion that Mr. Lapointe had been on the Margaret during the whole voyage.

Speaking at Bridgewater later, said Mr. Doucet, he informed his hearers that Mr. Lapointe denied that he had been on the Margaret. "I said I would accept his denial, but I insisted that his name was on the log," said Mr. Doucet.

"Did you use the expressions 'joy ride' or 'joy sail?'" said R. L. Calder, K.C., commission counsel.

"Yes," replied Mr. Doucet.

"Did you have any intention of indicating that it was a sail with women?"

"None whatever."

"Are you satisfied, after the Quebec hearing, that there was nothing immoral in the conduct of either Mr. Lapointe or Mr. Bureau?"

Mr. Doucet replied that he was. He objected to the trip on the ground that it was bad from an administrative point of view.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IS JURY'S VERDICT

Nanaimo, Aug. 25—A verdict of accidental death was the finding of the coroner's jury at an inquest held Tuesday in connection with the death of William Foy, who succumbed to injuries sustained in the Reserve Mine on Saturday.

Five witnesses gave evidence, including David Scott, working partner of the deceased, who was the only actual eye-witness to the accident, which occurred when Foy, who was in the act of unloading a car of mine timber, was caught on the head and shoulders by a fall of rock.

The funeral of the late Mr. Foy took place Tuesday afternoon from the family residence 229 Victoria Road, under the auspices of the local Moose Lodge, whose ritual was read by William Fulton, past dictator; Thomas Rutherford, dictator, and W. W. Hewlett, Prelate. Rev. Hugh Nixon conducted the services of the church at the home and graveside, the following brothers of the lodge acted as pallbearers: Messrs. M. Storey, W. Hope, W. Thorpe, G. Bapasky, N. Schwarze and T. Rutherford. Many floral tributes were sent.

U.S. WARSHIPS AT NICARAGUAN PORTS

To Protect U.S. Lives and Property in Revolution Zone

Washington, Aug. 26.—The navy was called on yesterday by the State Department to protect U.S. interests in Nicaragua where another revolution has developed.

As a result, orders were issued for the dispatch of two U.S. warships to the Nicaraguan ports of Bluefields and Corinto. Selection of the vessels for duty there was left to Rear-Admiral Latimer, in command of the special service squadron in Central American waters.

Decision to send warships to Bluefields and Corinto was reached after the State Department had received additional reports from U.S. diplomatic representatives in Nicaragua as to conditions there. The department did not disclose the sustance of these reports, but there were indications that the need for additional protection for American lives and property at these ports and at Managua, the capital, has been emphasized.

FOR SOME TIME

Information reaching the department has convinced officials that the late Nicaraguan outbreak is likely to continue for some time. On the other hand, the Nicaraguan Legation, several days ago declared that the revolutionary movement had been suppressed.

Coincident with the decision of the American Government to send warships to Nicaraguan ports, the minister from that country received a dispatch from President Chamorro charging that the Mexican Government was vioalting international obligations and actively aiding the revolutionists.

The minister was told that on Monday the Mexican steamer Concon attempted to land arms and men at Corinto. Several members of the landing party were captured, the dispatch added, and they were said to have declared the steamer was in the service of the Mexican Government which had furnished forty revolutionists aboard with 110 rifles, five machine guns, two field pieces and some revolvers.

Admiral Latimer advised the Navy Department late to-day that he had signed the gunboat Tulsa to duty at Corinto, which is on the Pacific Ocean. Word also was received that the gunboat Galveston was proceeding through the Panama Canal to Cristobal, thus indicating the vessel was bound for Bluefields on the east coast.

DENTISTS IN CONFERENCE

Philadelphia, Aug. 26.—Prohibition of unrestricted eating is more important than prohibition of drinking intoxicants, the International Dental Congress, in session here, was told to-day by Dr. John T. Buckley of the University of Southern California. "People to-day are living artificial lives," he said, "and are expecting natural results. It simply cannot be done. When people have the moral courage to admit to a physician that their ailments are caused by vicious habits, such as over-indulgence in food or drink, anger, worry and lack of personal hygiene, then only will the physician be able to diagnose with accuracy.

"A constitutional amendment restricting people's eating is more important than that restricting their drinking."

KILLED FARMER AND TOOK OVER PROPERTY

Vandalio, O., Aug. 26.—Because he was called a "liar" during an argument by Peter Rosenberger, wealthy aged farmer, Frank Sparr, a farm hand, to-day confessed fatally slugging the old man with an automobile tire jack, thereby clearing a murder mystery which concerned authorities of four states.

Sparr for the past two weeks had successfully posed as the purchaser of Rosenberger's crops and equipment, after telling neighbors the old man had suddenly decided to go East to live.

UNDERWORLD GANG BLAMED FOR DEATH

Several Involved in Conspiracy to Kill Editor, Investigators Believe

Canton, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Whatever evidence investigators into the Mellett murder case have uncovered in nearly six weeks of inquiry was turned over to the Stark County grand jury yesterday morning.

Only one man is under arrest formally charged with the murder, and he maintains his innocence but the evidence presented will tend to show a conspiracy involving several men, according to every indication made by the investigators during the six weeks period.

Don R. Mellett, publisher of The Canton Daily News, slain at his garage door on the morning of July 16, is still believed to have been killed by gangsters employed by the underworld to rid it of the constant menace that existed in the publisher's editorial and personal campaigning against vice and political corruption.

Louis Mazor of Canton's underworld, charged with conspiracy to violate the liquor laws, likewise is charged with the murder in a warrant signed nine days ago by Michael Glenna, Indianapolis detective.

MAY SHUT PRIESTS OUT PERMANENTLY

Those Who Spoke Against Government May be Barred From Mexico

Mexico City, Aug. 26.—The business men of Mexico with undisguised gloom, are settling down with whatever philosophy and resignation they can muster to what seems to be an indfinite continuance of the stalemate in the religious situation.

There is still hope that somehow a solution may be found but so far as tangible facts are concerned nothing has occurred of late to substantiate that hope. If anything, the government and episcopate both seem to be adopting a somewhat stiffer attitude.

The Foreign Minister, Senor Saenz, conferred yesterday with President Calles and it is understood he repeated to the president his denial of the remarks attributed to him in a recent interview at San Antonio. He assured the president that his position was for the enforcement of the constitution and laws.

The Foreign Minister had been quoted as saying that when laws or constitutional provisions were against the best interests of the country they should be either repealed or amended.

The episcopate continues to study plans for a campaign for amendment of the constitution by congress, but the newspapers declare that the government has decided to take a firmer attitude and does not intend to allow any Catholic priest who has spoken in opposition to the Govrnment and the laws during the present religious controversy to resume his church services, even when the church authorities resume.

MENUS FOR THE FAMILY

By SISTER MARY

By SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Grape fruit juice, cereal, thin cream, scrambled eggs, crisp broiled bacon, crisp bran toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked new cabbage, whole wheat bread, apricot, cream pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Pot roast of beef, potatoes cooked with meat, brown gravy, spinach salad, fresh strawberries, mother's spice cake, rye bread, milk, coffee.

If you have an iron kettle with a close-fitting iron cover, the potatoes are placed on top of the meat 1 hour before wanted to serve. The vegetable is really steamed and delicious by this method of cooking. Other vegetables can be added if the family do not object to a "savoury" gravy. Salt the vegetables about 15 minutes before serving.

MOTHER'S SPICE CAKE

Four eggs, 1-2 cup butter, 1 1-2 cups brown sugar, 2 1-2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup milk, few grains salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Save whites of 3 eggs for the frosting. Medium brown sugar is used and should be rolled before measuring.

Cream butter, slowly add sugar beating until mixture is creamy. Stir in a few tablespoons of the flour sifted once. Add 1 whole egg and yolks of 3 well beaten. Mix and sift remaining flour with baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Add alternately with milk to first mixture. Beat until perfectly smooth and turn into an oiled and floured dripping pan. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Let cake cool and cover with the following frosting:

Roll 1 cup of brown sugar until free from lumps. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry. Beat in rolled sugar and spread over cake. Put into a hot oven for eight minutes to brown and puff the frosting. If there is any danger of the cake burning on the bottom during this additional baking place a shallow pan of water under the cake and put the rack on which the cake is placed as near the top of the oven as possible.

FRECKLES

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckleface, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes your freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling. Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any drug or department store and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove your freckles. (Advt.)

BURRARD LIBERAL OPENS CAMPAIGN

Outstanding Instinct of Canadians is Liberal and Progressive, Says Hanbury

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Opening his campaign as Liberal candidate for Burrard here last night, Wilfred Hanbury outlined the Liberal platford, strongly attacked the offerings of the Conservatives, and declared himself an exponent of the Western policy of his party.

Mr. Hanbury was supported by Ian Mackenzie, M.P.P. for Vancouver.

In opening Mr. Hanbury defined his interpretation of "Toryism" and "Liberalism." The former, he said, is to control and repress, an example of this being in the manner in which the present Government "seized" power.

"Liberalism," he defined as the binding together of the people of Canada in a love and harmony embracing all and not any particular class.

The outstanding instinct of the Canadian people, he declared, is not Tory, but Liberal and Progressive. Institutions such as free speech and free press, he said, were made possible by Liberals yet had been claimed by the Tories as their own innovation.

Two Candidates For Lethbridge

Lethbridge, Alta., Aug. 26.—Andrew B. Hogg, barrister of Lethbridge, was nominated by the Conservatives to contest the Federal election in the Lethbridge constituency, at the adjourned convention of the Conservative association yesterday. L. H. Jeliff, U.F.A., is the only other candidate in the field.

Mr. Jeliff was elected to represent the seat in 1925 in a straight fight with Dr. J. S. Stewart, Conservative. The vote was: Jeliff, U.F.A., 5399; Stewart, Conservative, 4656.

Souvenir Hunters Strip Pole Plane

Seattle, Aug. 26.—After the transpolar dirigible Norge had slowly begun to disappear before the ravages of souverin hunters here, a waterfront warehouse in which it is stored was last night closed to the public. Silk which covers the airship's wings and rudders proved especially attractive to erstwhile curio collectors, it was said.

WHEAT ACREAGE BURNS

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 26. — One hundred and seventy acres of wheat, a granary and a binder were destroyed yesterday afternoon by a fire which burned over two miles at Druid, on the Biggar-Loverna branch of the Canadian National Railways. The flames completely destroyed a binder and yet spared a coupe standing a few feet away.

The Opinion of Users

Pacific Milk is a British Columbia product which has given the province a name for quality along with other good industries. FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is a Great Friend—It Stops Pain and Restores Health

Toronto, Ontario.—"I work in a factory and I would have to get away from my work every time I was sick. The dragging-down pains and cramps were very bad, but my back was terrible. It hurt so that I couldn't lie down with it. I heard some of the girls talking about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they told me to try it. I have taken about a dozen bottles of it and it has done me a lot of good. I never have any pains or sore back now, and have not been off from work a day since I have taken it. I recommend the Vegetable Compound when I have the opportunity."—Miss ROLLO, 21 Howie Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

"The Advice of a Friend"

Hanover, Ontario.—"I was terribly pained and a few odd times I almost fainted. I used to do housework until a few months ago and sometimes I had to leave my work and go to bed. I am now a mender in the knitting-mill. I suffered five or six years from painful periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by the advice of a friend. I got relief almost immediately, and I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. You may use this testimonial if you like, if it will help others."—Miss J. MR. RANEY EXPOSES THINGS

THOSE VOTERS IN VANCOUVER AND elsewhere who have followed the announcements which Hon. H. H. Stevens has made since he was appointed to the portfolio of Customs and Excise in Mr. Meighen's "shadow Cabinet" will find the charges which former Attorney-General Raney of Ontario levels at the Vancouver Minister of considerable interest at this time. It will be remembered that Mr. Stevens at once declared "war to the knife" on all smugglers and all smuggling and he stated specifically in his Toronto speech that he would never allow the Customs Department to be used as a medium for the bootlegging of liquor into the United States. To this statement Mr. Raney gives particular attention and says in part:

Mr. Stevens is a gentleman of high ideals and there is no reason to doubt the genuineness of his convictions or the sincerity of his promise at the time it was made. But notice what happened almost immediately. Mr. Stevens's speech was made on July 8. On the 12th a delegation of liquor men called upon the Government "to find out," as they explained to the newspapermen, the lay of the land so far as the new government is concerned, and particularly with reference to the intentions of Hon. H. H. Stevens, acting minister of customs and excise. They hadn't liked his Toronto speech and they went to Ottawa to say so to the acting Prime Minister, and they didn't care much who knew what their errand was.

They were going to find out who was running things anyway, so far as the liquor export business was concerned. And apparently what they found out was to their satisfaction, for Mr. Stevens sat down and wrote a letter to Mr. Gott, Conservative member in the late House for South Essex, which is a centre of the rum-running industry, and Conservative nominee for re-election in that riding. And in that letter Mr. Stevens told Mr. Gott that there was no intention of interfering with the business in which many of Mr. Gott's constituents were much interested. And of course, Mr. Gott was careful to see that the letter was brought to the attention of the constituents who were his friends, and who had been greatly disturbed by Mr. Stevens's speech. But it was cruel and unfair of Mr. Gott to tell The Toronto Star men, who interviewed him, that Mr. Stevens's Toronto speech was "all election propaganda." The fact of course, was that a gun was put to Mr. Stevens's head and he was compelled to change his mind, or resign his portfolio—that was all. It was probably the most humiliating thing that Mr. Stevens ever did in his life.

Mr. Raney also complains that "not only is Mr. Stevens permitting the distillers and brewers to market their product to the United States bootleggers—something he had said in his Toronto speech he would never do—but, under guise of the export business, he is permitting them to market their goods to Canadian bootleggers, and at some points of export he is not even requiring the bootleggers' craft to take out clearance papers." All this leads Mr. Raney to say that the distillers and brewers are in the saddle at Ottawa "and they don't care who knows it." Mr. Raney concludes, however, with the suggestion that they are taking particular care to let Mr. Stevens know it.

AS OTHERS SEE US

THOSE CONSERVATIVE SPEAKERS who, bankrupt in policies, now have to fall back on the worn-out election cry of annexation, should observe what Mr. W. J. Abbott, the editor of The Christian Science Monitor, has to say about the matter in a series of tabloid articles which he is now writing for his paper after his recent tour of Canada. To begin with he declares that the merest suggestion of the subject coming within the realm of practical politics is "offensive to Canadians." He then observes in a general way:

I did not hear the question debated often enough to create the impression that it is in any sense in active consideration by Canadians. The few that discussed it held the view that it could come about only through the operation of economic law. But unquestionably the vision of the high degree of prosperity in the United States, which loses nothing through the boasting of tourists from below the international boundary, is making many Canadians wonder whether in annexation there may not be some subtle alchemy which would turn their industrial endeavors into gold.

Annexation is not a "live" topic, as Mr. Abbott points out; it is trotted out from time to time in the hope that it may serve party ends. The Conservative Party is using it in the present election because none of the planks of the platform upon which it stood last year is of the least use to it to-day. It is the despairing wail of a party that is at its wits' end to know how to combat the record of its opponent and it is a significant admission by the Tories that they are losing ground.

"CLEARLY UNCONSTITUTIONAL"

YESTERDAY THE TIMES QUOTED the opinion of The Law Journal of London that Mr. Meighen's action in appointing "acting-ministers, without portfolios or salaries, who should do the work of ministers and introduce votes of supply to the House, is clearly unconstitutional." The Law Journal also declared that there was no precedent for such a form of dissolution as that which the Governor-General was advised to adopt.

Prof. Keith, the famous British authority, holds the same view regarding the unconstitutionality of Mr. Meighen's course as The Law Journal of London. It is rather significant that some of the Conservative defenders of Mr. Meighen's action resort to precedents in support of their contentions which arose in the times when Canada was a crown colony, when the Governor was an official of the Colonial Office and actually took part in Canadian party politics.

Mr. Meighen says he appointed acting-ministers merely to complete the work of the session, and that no matter what anybody else may say his action was quite constitutional. But the work of the session was not completed. The House of Commons by resolution formally declared that the so-called Government was illegal and had no right to exist. Thereupon Mr. Meighen advised the Governor-General to dissolve Parliament without even assenting to important legislation which had passed both Houses and awaited His Excellency's signature and proroguing in the usual way, all of which could have been arranged in a few hours.

Will Mr. Meighen give us a precedent from any time for those developments of the last day or two of the session? What would happen to a leader who attempted such a devious course in the Old Country? The electors there would serve prompt notice that there was no room for any budding Mussolini, Rivera, Pangalos or Pilsudski in their scheme of things, and that the constitution must be respected.

THOROUGHLY DISCREDITED

WHEN MR. A. J. DOUCET, A FORMER Conservative member of the House of Commons for Kent, told the Royal Commission on Customs at Halifax yesterday afternoon that he was satisfied, after the Quebec hearing, that there was nothing immoral in the conduct of Hon. Ernest Lapointe or Hon. Jaques Bureau during the cruise of the Margaret, he completed the demolition of one of the most revolting election canards ever employed in the manufacture of political capital in this country.

The investigator engaged by the Meighen Government to get at the bottom of the charges, which Mr. Doucet made in the presence of the Prime Minister, was satisfied after the first hearing that nothing took place aboard the Margaret of which either Mr. Lapointe or Mr. Bureau could reproach themselves. But Mr. Doucet continued to maintain his stand and issued a statement which differed very little from the original charges. He has now been compelled, however, to admit that his charges were made without any foundation in fact. Thus completely disappears the tasty morsel of scandal which the Conservative press and Conservative speakers seized upon with avidity a few weeks ago.

UNDER HIS SKIN

SURELY HON. H. H. STEVENS WAS badly out of sorts at his Grandview Theatre meeting in Vancouver on Tuesday night. The Canadian Press dispatch, which reported his speech and is, by the way, a strictly impartial news-gathering agency, relates the incident this way:

For an hour and a half by the clock, Mr. Stevens devoted his undivided attention to the old age pensions plan proposed by his political opponents.

He raked it over, ridiculed it, rent it clause by clause, railed at it, rolled it up and wrote "N.G."

When he had finished he wiped his perspiring brow and was about to resume his seat when Professor Odlum placed in his hand a slip of blue paper received from a member of the audience.

Mr. Stevens read it and wheeled about, face pale, eyes blazing and hands trembling.

"Who sent this question to me?" he shouted. Passion was in every word.

The audience was stunned into silence.

"I want to know what man in this audience sent me this," brandishing the paper in the air. "Will he stand up and say so?"

A man at the back of the hall admitted authorship. His note read:

"What is your attitude on old age pensions?"

"In the name of Heaven, man—" but it was too much.

Mr. Stevens tore the paper to pieces and walked on it.

It should be noted that Professor Odlum, who was in the chair, announced at the beginning of the meeting that if any member of the audience would write out any question he would undertake to get answers. Note how Mr. Stevens treated the one handed to him!

ONLY CANADIAN-COLORED

From The Brandon Sun

Sinclair Lewis went through Western Canada last year to obtain local color for a new novel. He went to the north into the backwoods. The result is now published in "Mantrap." It is said to have a charm mainly, as usual from his character delineations. His female heroine, whom a gaunt woodsman from somewhere has married out of a manicure parlor in Minneapolis to Mantrap river wilds, supplies the drama. Otherwise it has pleasant and unpleasant persons as part of a holiday trip of a city man of the United States into Canadian backwoods. "Mantrap" takes Mr. Babbitt on a holiday comfortably and the Canadian color does not, it would seem, make this Dominion more than professionally incidental to another noted piece of fiction. The Canadian novel has yet to be written.

"AN AXE TO GRIND"

To say that someone has "an axe to grind" is to infer that he has some selfish motive—some personal interest to serve. Franklin told of a man who wanted to grind his axe, but had no one to turn the grindstone. Entering the yard where young Ben Franklin was at work, he asked the boy to show him how the grindstone worked, and continued to praise the boy until the axe was sharpened. Franklin's comment after realizing that he had been tricked is said to be the origin of the expression.

A GREAT ISSUE

To the Editor:—I was much interested to read your editorial yesterday evening on the constitutional issue of the campaign, quoting the editorial pronouncement of The Law Journal in England.

In my opinion it is little short of a tragedy that the paramount importance of the constitutional issue in this campaign is not appreciated. From the standpoint of so-called "practical" politics, I realize the futility of any concentration on the point. A student of constitutional history knows how vital it is, and how tremendous the issue would bulk, if we did not enjoy the security and near-perfection of our constitution, but it is fatuous to expect the non-student to recognize that importance. Personally, although I have already taken some active part in the campaign, I have not even referred to the issue in my addresses, having not more than enough time at my disposal to review the scandalous allegations of scandal upon which the party of Mr. Meighen attempt to steal their way into office, and the economic and social policy and legislation of Mr. King's government. Let me repeat my regret that in the nature of things it is impossible to expected the average citizen in these days of peace to justly valuate the importance of the constitutional issue. It is not altogether a matter of blame or depreciation or reproach, but one might usefully quote the words of Walter Bagehot, our greatest authority on the English Constitution: "As a theoretical writer I can venture to say, what no elected member of Parliament, Conservative or Liberal, can venture to say, that I am exceedingly afraid of the ignorant multitude of the new constituencies. The security to us under our constitution was purchased through the various stages of oppression, murmur and the final exercise of force. We paid for it in suffering and our blood. Any breach in the position we have gained through the constitution spells danger in a time that may well recur again, and the precedent of Canada is a precedent for all parts of the Empire, which imposes on the electorate of this Dominion a grave responsibility, unless they rise to reprobate the unconstitutional procedure of Arthur Meighen.

May I supplement the authority of The Law Journal quoted by you, not to mention the recent pronouncement of Chester W. New, professor of history of McMaster University. Walter Bagehot in his great work, "The English Constitution" has this to say:

"To state the matter shortly, the sovereign has, under a constitutional monarchy such as ours, three rights—the right to be consulted, the right to encourage, the right to warn. And a king of great sense and sagacity would want no others. He would find that his having no others would enable him to use these with singular effect. He would say to his minister: 'The responsibility of these measures is upon you. Whatever you think best must be done.'"

Sir William R. Anson, also of the highest authority on English constitutional law, in his monumental work, "Law and Customs of the Constitution," says:

"We may say then that the prerogative of dissolution is one which the King exercises on the advice and at the request of his ministers, and that a request is not refused. It remains to consider when this request may properly be made."

"The direct action of the crown in causing or refusing a dissolution may be said to have ceased, but the prerogative exists."

A more recent writer, A. Lawrence Lowell, in his two-volume work on "The Government of England," says:

"The effort to fasten upon a particular person the actual responsibility for each public act of the crown by compelling some officer to put his approval of it on record, has been superseded by the general principle that the responsibility must always be imputed to a minister. Though ignorant of the matter at the time it occurred, he becomes answerable if he retains his post after it comes to his knowledge, and even though not in office when the act was done, yet if he is apointed in consequence of it, he assumes with the office the responsibility for the act.

" . . . The rule is so universal in its operation 'that there is not a moment in the King's life, from his accession to his demise, during which there is nt some one responsible to Parliament for his public conduct.'

" . . . The ministers, being responsible to Parliament for all the acts of the crown, are obliged to refrain from things that they cannot justify, and to insist upon actions which they regard as necessary. In short, the Cabinet must carry out its own policy, and to that policy the Crown must submit. The King may, of course, be able to persuade his ministers to abandon a policy of which he does not approve, and of his opportunities for doing so we shall have more to say later, but if he cannot persuade them, and, backed by a majority in Parliament, they insist upon their views, he must yield. It is commonly said that he must give his ministers his confidence, but it would be more accurate to say that he must follow their advice. With the progress of the parliamentary system this custom has grown more and more settled, the ministers assuming greater control, and the crown yielding more readily, not necessarily from any dread of the consequences, but from the force of habit. . . . In short, the ministers direct the action of the crown in all matters relating to the Government."

In my opinion these authorities are worthy of grave note and serious reflection by the electors.

STAMP COLLECTOR TO VISIT VICTORIA

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—More than fifty enthusiasts heard a lecture on the stamps of Great Britain, given by F. Hugh Vallancy, under the auspices of the British Columbia Philatelic Society, here last night. Vallancy is president of the London Stamp Club, publisher of the weekly magazine, "Stamp Collecting," and joint author of a standard work on the stamps of Great Britain.

He left this morning for Victoria, and will visit the Pacific and Middle States of the United States on his way to New York.

Face Badly Broken Out With Pimples Cuticura Healed

"My face was so badly broken out with pimples that it was actually disfigured. They first started with a few blackheads on the sides of my face, and festered. The pimples spread to my forehead, chin and neck. They itched and burned so that I could hardly rest. They looked so badly that I was ashamed to be seen in public. The trouble lasted about three years.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some. I used about two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and four cakes of Soap and was healed." (Signed) Mrs. John Kelly, Rt. 3, Bay City, Mich., Nov. 5, 1925.

Nothing so insures a healthy, clear complexion, soft, smooth hands and glossy, luxuriant hair as Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment when necessary.

ARE HOME INMATES ENTITLED TO VOTE?

Qualifications of 250 Ottawa Residents to be Debated

Ottawa, Aug. 26—Are persons whose names are now properly inscribed on the voters' lists to be used in the forthcoming Federal election, and who between now and polling day may temporarily be patients in a public ward of a hospital, to have their names struck from the voters' list as soon as they enter the institution and be deprived of their vote even if able to cast it on polling day?"

This was one of the outstanding questions in local politics to-day so far as the work of the revising officers were concerned, in dealing with the now very important question of legally interpreting sub-section "F" of Section 30 of the Dominion Elections Act, which deals with the disqualifications of voters, in connection with which 250 protests have been filed against persons domiciled in St. Charles' Home.

The consideration of the 250 protests against persons already entered on the voters' list in the St. Charles Home, and which were to be taken up this afternoon, individually, before Thomas Charlebois, the revising officer for Ottawa ward, was not given on account of counsel for both the Liberal and Conservative parties agreeing to leave argument over until Friday afternoon.

MEIGHEN DEFENDS OFFICE SEIZURE

No Law to Call Upon Acting Minister to Take Oath, He Says

Moose Jaw, Aug. 26.—The constitutional issue was discussed by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in his speech here last night.

Mr. Mackenzie King took the ground, Mr. Meighen proceeded, that because our Ministers were not sworn as acting Ministers, the whole Government was illegal.

"My first observation is this: If I were a taxpayer I would rather have a Minister not sworn who did his duty than a sworn Minister who did not do this. There are two oaths which a Minister with portfolio must take:

"1. His oath as a Privy Councillor and,

"2. His oath as a Minister.

"There is only one oath an acting Minister must take. Every Minister in that temporary Government took his oath as a Privy Councillor, but no acting Minister ever before took the oath as such in the history of Canada. Nor is there any law or custom to call upon a man to take an oath as acting Minister."

Mr. Meighen charged that everywhere he went he met a new falsehood, evidence that the Liberal "fabrication factory" was busier than ever.

"I am asked to-night," he said, "if we intend to dismiss Sir Henry Thornton. If we ever intended to do it we would say so. But never has anything been said to indicate it. No man who does his duty will ever be dismissed by us."

A Successful Want Ad Is Easy to Write—Peculiarly So!

You write it much as you would a telegram—simply, directly. If the matter is important enough—as would be the selling or real estate—you expand it much as you would one of these "high letters by wire," stating your facts more fully.

And—keep this in mind: a SUCCESSFUL classified ad is one of the most profitable of all possible small ventures!

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

One broken leg, a serious scalp wound and numerous other cuts and bruises were injuries receivd by players in an exhibition lacrosse game played between Victoria and New Westminster Saturday, being won by the latter 12-3.

With a story of leaks, bad storms, strikes, desertions and other hardships, the British barque Senator arrived in port to-day with exactly the same cargo which she shipped here last April for Liverpool.

EXHIBITS WATER COLOR PORTRAITS

Mrs. Cowper Rochfort, the well-known artist who visited Victoria for the first time last year, is holding a private exhibition of her portraits at the Empress Hotel to-day and to-morrow. The exhibit includes twenty of Mrs. Rochfort's water colors, representing some of her work of the past year and including portraits of such well-known people as Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green, Captain and Mrs. Carter and their small daughter, and the Misses Hulscamp of Seattle, who are visitors at Cadboro Bay.

SOCIAL PERSONAL WOMEN'S AFFAIRS AND CLUB NEWS

INSTITUTE HONORS WORKERS FOR FAIR

"At Home" For Colwood Women Whose Efforts Secured Prize Cup

Colwood, Aug. 26—Miss Marion Kelly, president of the Colwood Women's Institute, and her sisters, the Misses Helen and Mary Kelly, were "at home" at the Colwood Hall Tuesday afternoon to the convener and committee who were responsible for the arrangement of the Institute exhibit which carried off the silver cup at Victoria Fall Fair, and members of the Institute. About thirty were present.

The hall presented a very attractive appearance, being gaily and tastefully decorated with flowers, as were also the five tables which were prepared for the guests. At the centre table sat the convener, Mrs. C. H. Goodall, and the committee, Mrs. H. Parker, Mrs. Ed. Shields, Mrs. A. S. Burgess, and Mrs. C. F. Ellison, with the president, whose charming little speech of welcome was followed by other amusing little speeches and anecdotes which were aptly called "Echoes of the Exhibition." Then, with another appropriate little speech, each of the ladies at the centre table were presented with a magnificent bouquet of pink asters, stocks, gypsophilia and mauve poppies, on behalf of the president. The silver cup was of course in prominence.

After the daintiest of afternoon teas had been enjoyed and a delightful social hour, a short time was given to business, when it was arranged that the same committee should take charge of the exhibit for the Metchosin District Fall Fair at Luxton, and a meeting was arranged to take place on Monday night next at the Luxton Hall to commence preparations. The ladies then took leave of their hostesses after enjoying quoting verbatim expression of opinion, "the most delightful afternoon ever spent."

LATE QUEEN'S HOME BEING CONVERTED AS MODERN MANSION

Queen Mary Supervises Sandringham Renovations; Rooms Undisturbed For 30 Years

London, Aug. 26 (New York Herald-Tribune Special Cable)—Queen Mary yesterday ended a happy fortnight which she has passed more as a housekeeper than as a Sovereign.

Absence of the usual daily newspaper reports on the Queen's movements for the last two weeks has meant that she has been at Sandringham, Norfolk, dressed in the severest working clothes, superintending the transformation of the home of the late Queen Mother Alexandra into a modern mansion for the use of the present King and Queen.

Each morning Queen Mary has walked across the fields from York Cottage, which until now has been reserved for the use of the British Sovereigns, to Sandringham, and in addition to supervising the work of renovation she has been wielding duster and broom. So entranced has she been with her new occupation that she has refused to return to York Cottage for lunch each day, and has had baskets of cold food sent across the fields to her.

Due to the Queen's insistence, the decorators have left undisturbed the monograms of the late Queen Alexandra, which appear here and there throughout the castle, but two rooms hitherto kept sacred by the Queen Mother to the memory of King Edward VII and the Duke of Clarence, have been returned to ordinary uses. These rooms had been left undisturbed even to the smallest detail, as last occupied by their late occupants, and the silver and copper coins, carelessly placed by the Duke of Clarence on his dressing table more than thirty years ago, were moved for the first time this week.

The renovation of Sandringham will be completed by October, when the King will visit the estate for shooting.

Welsh Society is Planning Bazaar

At a meeting of the ladies of the Victoria Welsh Society the following were chosen as stallholders for the society's bazaar which will be held in the Harmony Hall on Wednesday, October 6: Home cooking stall, Mrs. Jack Jones and Mrs. W. P. Jeune; fancy work, Mrs. R. T. Williams and Mrs. W. C. Williams; sale of sundries, Mrs. Gurney; ice cream, candies and pop, Mrs. W. Jones; refreshments, Mrs. E. Bricker, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. D. Thomas; handkerchief stall, Miss May Lewis and Phyllis Williams; concert programme, Mr. N. Gardener, Mrs. W. Jones and Mrs. Mason.

All members and their friends are asked to make as liberal a donation as possible so that the children will be assured of a well-loaded Christmas tree.

+ + +

The Brentwood Bay Social Club held the most popular dance of the season at the Anchorage Tea Gardens on Wednesday evening, when about sixty couples enjoyed the many novel stunts arranged by the committee. The balloon dance was a particular favorite. W. P. Marchant made reference to the enjoyable season about to close, paying tribute to George Grant for his untiring efforts "to put Brentwood Bay on the map." On behalf of the club, Mr. Marchant informed Mr. Grant that he was elected "mayor" of the bay, and presented him with a box of buns, informing him that he "took the cake." Neary's orchestra provided excellent music.

+ + +

A miscellaneous shower was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. T. Williams, 1715 Fourth Street, in honor of Miss Mildred Calcutt, who is to be married early in September. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion in pastel shades of pink and mauve crepe paper and flowers. A novel feature was a miniature house, artistically decorated in the same colors, in which the gifts were daintily concealed. After the bride-elect had opened her gifts, the remainder of the evening was enjoyably spent in games and singing, and refreshments were served. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Calcutt, Mrs. Sparrowhawk, Mr. Markland, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, the Misses Mildred Calcutt, Elsie Summers, Mae Chattell, Phyllis Machin, Irene Whitfield, Dora and Emmie Collett, Mildred, Winnifred and Myra Williams.

LAKE HILL PRODUCE EXHIBIT A SUCCESS

Women's Institute Brought Together Fine Collection Yesterday; List of Awards

Lake Hill Women's Institute held a successful exhibition for Ward One, Saanich, yesterday, in the Community Hall, Quadra Street. T. G. Covity introduced by the president, Mrs. Scott, opened the fair at 3 o'clock, and spoke a few words of congratulation to the convener and members, upon the work they had accomplished.

A fur exhibit displayed by Mrs. John Peddle was much admired, and also an exceedingly fine show of dahlias, grown by T. W. Palmer, Lake Hill. Sunflowers, twelve feet in height, grown by Mr. Borden, attracted attention. Saanich Health Centre had a very attractive booth showing a birdseye map of Healthland, which looked very real, with its small railway track, lake and green trees.

Cecil Heaton added much to the pleasure of those present by playing selections upon an Orthophonic machine. A vacuum cleaner was demonstrated by Mr. Monkley.

Mrs. Macnicol was the general convener of the fair, with Mrs. Webster, assisted by Miss Douglas, as secretaries. Conveners for the several classes were as follows: Mrs. Fooks, vegetables, fruit and flowers; domestic, Mrs. Peddle; plain and fancy sewing, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Porter; children's work, Mrs. Moody; tea, Mesdames Calvert, Akerman, Mercer, Currie, Peddle and Harris; home cooking, Mrs. Mountford and Mrs. Huffman; ice cream, Eleanor Devison.

The judges were Miss Leighton, Mrs. Fuggle, Miss McConnell and Mr. Hilborn.

London Jottings

By a Victorian

London, Aug. 13.—Yesterday a garden party was held at Bedford College in honor of the party of British Columbia school teachers and students who are visiting London. They have just returned from a tour of the English lake country and were all very enthusiastic about the scenery there. As the lack of time limits their stay here to eleven days, a set programme is being followed so they are all very busy sight-seeing. They have been to Scotland and France and will spend a few days in Italy before returning to Canada.

The guests were received by the principal in the hall where tea was served. Later ice cream was served on the lawn under the stately trees, surrounded by the lovely old gardens which overlook Regent's Park. The painting of the first lady member being presented in the British House of Commons, with Lord Balfour standing on one side of her and Mr. Lloyd George on the other was on view. It was moved to the college as a result of the discussion in the House that it was not representative of all parties.

The Agent-General and Mrs. Pauline were present and among the Victorians were Miss Cann, Mrs. Pope and the Misses Pope, Miss Cathcart, the Misses Aylard and Miss M. McDougall.

Recent visitors to B.C. House include Mr. Walter Frost and Miss C. Muriel Aylard of Victoria, and R. Cruise, Mary Duff Stuart, Phyllis Darling, Helen Darling, Dorothy Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Combie Hutchinson of Vancouver.

Montreal Nurse Chosen President of Association

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The education section of the Canadian Nurses' Association in convention here yesterday again chose Miss F. M. Shaw of Montreal, as its chairman. Miss Shaw also was elected to the office of president of the Association.

Tea Rooms Were Success—The tea rooms conducted by the Princess Alexandra Lodge, Daughters and Maids of England, at the Willows Fair, proved a great success, owing to the capable management of Mrs. Coldwell and her committee. The financial results will be made known at the quarterly meeting on Thursday, September 2.

Esquimalt Women To Entertain Men of Curlew Friday

An entertainment and dance in honor of the men of H.M.S. Curlew will be held at the Masonic Hall, Esquimalt, on Friday evening, commencing at 8 p.m. The concert will commence at 8 and dancing to the strains of Hunt's orchestra will follow from 9 until 1 a.m. Refreshments will be served.

The affair is under the auspices of the Esquimalt Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and all members of sister chapters are cordially invited to attend.

Royal Oak W.I.—A meeting of the Royal Oak Women's Institute will be held on Monday, August 30, to make final plans for the Ward V Exhibition and Flower Show, to be held at Royal Oak Hall, September 4 at 3.30 p.m.

Home Cooking Stall — The Lake Hill Community Centre Tennis Club will hold a home cooking stall in the basement of David Spencer's Limited on Saturday, August 28.

The Beauty Doctor

By NINON

Condition—A neck that begins to show lines and sagging muscles.

Diagnosis—This is one of the indications that youth is being threatened by middle age. However, it is possible to delay such manifestations with extreme care. The circulation must be stimulated and the muscles strengthened.

Treatment—For increasing circulation, pinching is one of the best-known exercises. After cleansing your neck with cleansing cream, go over the surface, pinching it with rapid movements between the thumb and fingers. When you are pleasantly a-tingle, go over the surface of your throat with ice wrapped in a towel. It is astonishing how this builds up the contour and improves the skin texture of the neck.

LACE COAT NOW

YOUR BABY and MINE

MILK TO USE WHEN TRAVELING

Babies fed on formulas of fresh cows' milk diluted with water and sugar are difficult traveling companions, as milk spoils so rapidly during hot weather that a mother hesitates to use a bottle which has been prepared longer than twenty-four hours, even if this bottle has been kept on ice.

There are certain methods which mothers may use in feeding their children when on trips of long duration.

First of all one may have the baby's own formula prepared and sterilized and packed on ice so that it will keep at least forty-eight hours. This is an ideal and naturally the most expensive way as such sterilization and packing is done at milk stations which specialize in the preparation of feeding formulas, and such stations are found only in large cities. But for mothers who are adjacent to such milk stations and money is no object this is a fine method of preparing the baby's food for traveling.

Secondly, if the journey is not for too long a time, the milk may be boiled for three minutes, cooled rapidly under running water until it is thoroughly cold, the ingredients (always cold) put with it and the whole put into a sterilized jar of sufficient size to hold it. This can be placed on ice and can be handed to the porter on the train, who will keep it on ice during the trip.

Thirdly, one may use any of the three forms of canned milks, condensed, evaporated or dried milk. The latter is, of the three, the easiest to carry and keep. It needs only the addition of boiled water in the right proportion to make whole milk and then the additional amount of water used ordinarily to dilute the milk; and the sugar.

The dried milk can be carried in the package. It is diluted for regulation milk in the proportion of five level teaspoons of the milk to one glass of water, or one-half pint of water.

Condensed milk can be carried in a sterilized glass jar and should be kept on ice. Directions for its use come on the can.

Evaporated milk is a wholesome form in which to carry milk, but is more bulky than dried or condensed milk. Half milk and half water makes ordinary whole milk. It should be kept on ice.

When arriving at any new place and when compelled to use strange milk and water it is a wise precaution to boil both. Babies and children are peculiarly susceptible to changes in milk and water.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. For a self-addressed stamped envelope mailed to this office you may have a leaflet dealing with your particular problem.

ALLENE DISCOVERS EATING IN ROME IS MUCH OF AN ART

Breakfast Outside of Bedroom is Like Dressing in Public

Tea Rooms Wonderful With Their Patisseries and Other Creations

By ALLENE SUMNER

Rome, Italy, Aug. 28.—When in Rome doing as the Romans do, one eats as the Romans eat.

First of all, let me stress that all eating, with the possible exception of breakfast, is taken much more seriously than at home. We foreigners are much wondered at for our little dallying over the dinner table, which, to the European, is the evening's pastime!

And, by the same token, we receive ridicule if we dare to poke our heads outside our own chamber for the morning coffee or chocolate.

Having a native dislike to breakfast thus, Pansy Herring-for-short and I attracted an entire hotelful of servants who came to stand and gape as we drank our cafe au lait in an hotel lobby in old Avignon.

The proprietor had done his best for the honor of his hostelry. But we were not dissuaded. We were free-born spirits who would take our breakfast where we pleased, even though he insisted that it would be brought on a silver tray to our room, "gratis."

And when to this effrontery we added the peculiarity of insisting on oranges for breakfast and butter on our rolls, the wide-eyed servants contained themselves no longer and broke forth into voluble expressions of amazement at these strange specimens from across the seas!

One is forced to deduce that to eat breakfast in public is almost to the European what the little process of abluting and dressing in public would be at home!

And the breakfast can only be "coffee," "tea" or "chocolate"; the latter being about the onely one of the three liquids fit to drink. The ordering of any one of the three brings the automatic accompaniment of hard rolls and, perhaps, butter which is served, at this meal only, to be spread on bread and not as an appetizer.

At some pensions one can order a pot of jam, for which one pays an ample price, and which is carefully marked with one's room number and served each morning until consumed.

But if breakfast is an overlooked meal to the European, not so the others. Lunch is less of an extravagance than dinner. It omits soup and salad, but has its entree of omelette, spaghetti or fish, before the actual plat de jour of meat, potato and vegetable is served.

The cheese course is as much of a luncheon rite as the coffee and grapefruit is our home breakfast rite.

The maid brings in a huge tray or board containing at least one slice of a dozen variety of cheeses, made from cow, goat, sheep and even donkey milk.

And continental eating by no means ends with lunch and dinner. From early morning on, the open air street cafes are crowded with men, women and children drinking their beer or wine or cognac to the munching of cakes, sandwiches and a sort of doughnut.

The most devout prohibitionist could not help being impressed by the result of this wholesale and chronic drinking. I have not seen one drunken person in Europe. One cannot help liking the simple sociability of the people over their glasses, women with children in their arms drinking their foaming beer together and busily gossiping away. Old cronies knocking glasses together and beaming in the simple joy of human companionship.

Dinner is the evening's job! It is not even served in most restaurants or hotels until dusk has fallen and the day's work is over.

And don't think that you can pop into a European restaurant at any old time and get a meal. All meals are served in their due season, and if you miss lunch at lunchtime you must content yourself with a drink or ice cream until dinner time. And if you miss dinner at the appointed time, there is nothing for you in the way of real food until the next noon.

The tea rooms, however, are fearful and wonderful things. No salads and sandwiches such as ours hold at home, but marvelous gooey pastries which the customer selects from the counter, and ice creams of a dozen flavors.

The "dip" or "sundae" does not seem to thrive in France. There they serve several ice creams together. But in Italy a "gelati" costing about 10 cents contains all the syrups and fruits and nuts and candies and whipped creams known to man, it seems.

Odd things are served in these tea rooms. Cool dew-wet white magnolia blooms, cupped by their leaves, holding ice cream; little wild strawberries from the woods mixed with ice cream and heaped into melon shells, or green grapes coated with candy and dipped in ice cream!

Shun Sun Shades

The National Safety Council is beginning to receive reports of persons being severely burned as a result of their celluloid sun visors becoming ignited.

Thousands have acquired the habit of wearing inflammable eye shades, in lieu of hats and caps, during these warm days. Many do not realize the extreme caution that is necessary to avoid painful and often serious burns.

Accidents most often occur while pipes or cigarettes are being lighted, as the match must of necessity be held within a few inches of the dangerous celluloid. People working in shops, factories and other industrial plants, where there are open flames or hot chips flying, will do well to get eye shades that are not inflammable.

While it should be easy to knock these shades off, several reports have been received of persons being severely injured through burns suffered in this manner. In some cases the flames spread from the visor to the hair and then to the face.

Children should be warned against getting too close to bon fires while wearing these novelties.

Pacific Steamship Company's Vessels Carry Big Lists; Ruth Alexander in To-night

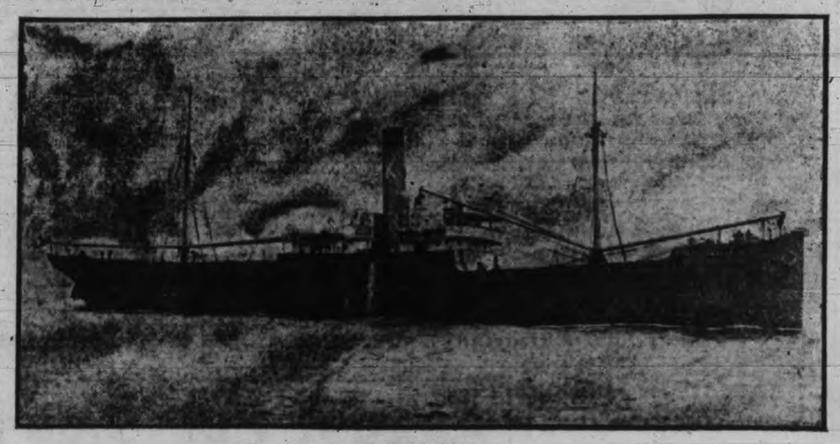
For late August, when traffic in recent years has shown a tendency to diminish, the vessels of the Pacific Steamship Company's service to California and to Alaska continues to tax the capacity of the several units, according to an announcement made this morning by W. M. Allan, local agent.

Yesterday the steamship Queen sailed from Seattle for Southeastern Alaska with a large list of passengers. The Southwestern Alaska liner Admiral Watson arrived at Seattle yesterday morning with 183 cabin passengers and a big cargo of freight.

The Ruth Alexander, sailing from San Francisco last Tuesday, is due to arrive here to-night from California with 347 cabin passengers and is booked to capacity for the southbound trip Sunday morning.

The man who found a real estate bargain, which doubled in value in a short time, was a reader of the classified ads.

ARRIVED TO-DAY WITH BIG CARGO OF FUEL OIL



SS. ROCHELIE

ROCHELIE HAS BIG CARGO OF FUEL OIL

Kingsley Navigation Company's Steamer Discharges 102 Tons of Asphalt Here

Loaded to capacity with fuel oil and general cargo the steamship Rochelie, operated by the Kingsley Navigation Company between Victoria, Vancouver and San Francisco, docked this morning at 5.30 o'clock at the Evans, Coleman & Evans wharves, from the southern port.

Upon entering the harbor this morning the vessel was exceedingly low in the water her holds being filled with oil consigned to Woodfibre and James Island.

At Victoria the Rochelie discharged 106 tons of asphalt and a small shipment of general freight.

The steamship departed at 10.30 o'clock bound to Woodfibre thence to Vancouver and on her outward trip to San Francisco the Rochelie will call at James Island to discharge.

Hermion Completed Repairs in Dock

Yarrows Limited of Esquimalt this week completed repairs to the Norwegian freighter Hermion.

On a recent voyage the Hermion sustained damage by grounding, and arriving here from the Far East her master was instructed to complete necessary repairs. Yarrows replaced three plates on the starboard side, renewed several frames, rewooded the stern bush, drew the tailshaft and overhauled the ship's machinery.

CURLEW ARRIVED HERE YESTERDAY FROM WEST COAST

For a seventeen-day visit H.M.S. Curlew, Capt. H. D. Bridges, C.V.O., D.S.O., arrived back at Esquimalt yesterday afternoon from Port Alberni. The light cruiser has been making a tour of Island and mainland ports during the past six weeks. The British vessel will remain here until September 10, leaving on that day for her base at Bermuda.

A varied programme of entertainment has been arranged for the officers and men during their visit which commenced last night with a soccer match.

PHILOCTETES SAILS FOR ORIENTAL PORTS

Vessel Taking Out 150 Passengers and 4,500 Tons of Freight

Outbound for the Orient the Blue Funnel liner Philcotetes arrived here at 9 o'clock this morning from Vancouver. The vessel remained here until 1 o'clock during which time thirty steerage passengers embarked.

The Blue Funnel liner took out 150 passengers and approximately 4,500 tons of freight.

The next Blue Funnel liner due to arrive here from the Orient is the Tyndareus, expected August 31. She has 3,000 tons of freight and 234 passengers. The vessel has also a silk cargo valued at $2,000,000.

CANADA FIRMLY ENTRENCHED IN WORLD TRADE

Vice-President of Rowntree and Co. Impressed With Creative Power of Canada

Major Herbert, vice-president of Rowntree & Company Limited, of York, England, was in Victoria last night on his way around the world, sailing by the motorship Aorangi for Australia. He has in his capacity as general director of exports for the firm, visited Canada several times during the last few years and each time he has crossed the Dominion he has been impressed with both the creative power in industry and also in the individuals. He is of the opinion that Canada is firmly entrenched on the road to a wonderful expansion of trade and prosperity. The tremendous possibilities of Canada are only in harmony with the wonderful individualism of its people. These factors, fully realized and in unison, will make Canada the outstanding feature of world development in the twentieth century. Present day experiences in other countries indicate that various forms of government and trades union control can render individuals into stagnant parts of an uneconomical machine and if Canadians continue to develop on individualistic lines, Canada will surely take a place in world trade more in keeping with its boundless resources.

The Rowntree Company are most anxious to do all they can to assist in Imperial development and their Canadian policy has been formulated with this object in view. The Rowntree Company have also always fully realized the great importance of the West and in organizing their distribution the local firm of Messrs. W. R. Beaty & Company at Vancouver were appointed their western Canadian representatives.

The Rowntree Company are now conducting trading experiments in Canada with certain of their well known products in order to obtain data prior to undertaking any manufacturing activities in Canada and the reception their goods have had has clearly brought home to them the loyalty and friendship of the people of Canada.

Major Herbert said in conclusion that the Rowntree Company stand for quality in merchandise and the development of Canadian industry on sound lines.

KAGA MARU DOCKS FROM THE ORIENT

N.Y.K. Steamer Here Last Night; Had 3,700 Bales of Silk Aboard

The Nippon Yusen Kaisa steamship Kaga Maru, Capt. Wada, docked from the Far East last night at 7 o'clock.

The Kaga brought 125 tons of cargo for discharge here, including a small consignment of silk.

In passengers the vessel had one cabin and four steerage for Victoria, while for Seattle there were thirteen first-class and seventeen steerage travelers.

Seattle's feright consisted of 3,700 bales of raw silk, a shipment of silk goods and nearly 4,000 tons of general freight.

Twenty-eight bags of mail were discharged here before the vessel sailed for Seattle at 10.30 o'clock.

RATE SCHEDULES

Seattle, Aug. 26.—Seattle members of the Pacific westbound conference leave here September 3 for Quebec to confer with representatives of the Atlantic Far East conference on rate schedules for the first six months of next year. The meeting opens September 8. Shipping men here said no radical changes in rates is anticipated. One object of the conference is to stabilize rates to the Far East from the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. Among the concerns to be represented from Seattle are the Admiral-Oriental line, Dodwell & Co., agents for the Blue Funnel lines; Nippon Yusen Kaisha, and Osaka Shosen Kaisha. The traffic department of the United States Shipping Board is sending an agent.

The McCormick Steamship Company announced here yesterday that Norman F. Titus, manager of its claims and insurance department, has been named chief of the transportation division of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Titus has been in the shipping business on the Pacific Coast more than twenty years.

The steamship Kermit of the United American line loads 18,000 boxes of apples for Belgium, Holland and Germany after arrival here September 7 from North Europe.

Ancestor Worship

THE Chinese pray to their ancestors. But they do more than that. They allow themselves to be guided by family tradition in their every thought and action. The principal difficulty facing the introduction of modern improvements into China is the universal objection: "This is not as our fathers did."

Imagine saying that we did not want electricity because our forefathers were satisfied with candles.

Though we never went as far as the Chinese, our conservatism in the past often went to considerable lengths. Think of the telephone, of the motor car. How much encouragement did they get at first?

Advertising more than anything else has made of us a nation willing to judge something new on its merits, rather than on narrow, ancient traditions.

Advertising to-day is as necessary as electricity, sanitation and rapid transit. It is more than the system by which we are kept informed of every new improvement that is to our advantage. It is the catalogue wherein, every day, all manner of articles are listed for us with their individual advantages.

Read the advertisements. Be guided by them. They will help you in making your selections. They will save you money.

To buy the new is to progress—to learn of it first is to read advertising

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Aug. 26.—With a capacity contingent of world travelers on board, the Dollar round-the-world liner President Garfield arrived here from New York yesterday. The vessel will remain in port a few days and then continue its voyage via Honolulu and the Orient.

The Japanese naval oil tankers will arrive at this port during the coming week, it was announced at twelfth naval district headquarters yesterday. The Shirestoke is due today from San Pedro, and is scheduled to leave Monday for Japan by way of Honolulu. The Kamie will arrive on September 2 and stop over for five days before returning to home waters.

Announcement was made yesterday that the Mexican states line fleet of small steamers was to be retired and replaced as soon as possible with vessels of much larger type and better adapted to handle all cargo offerings. The announcement did not state whether the vessels are to be built or purchased.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

OBITUARY

Funeral service was held at the B.C. Funeral Chapel this morning at 11 o'clock over the remains of Mrs. Gwyneth Mason (Yvonne) Kennaird, wife of Harold H. Kennaird of Brentwood, who passed away on Tuesday, August 24. Rev. A S. Bastin conducted the service in the presence of many sorrowing friends. After the service the many beautiful floral tributes were placed upon the war memorial in Parliament Square. The remains were forwarded later to Vancouver for cremation.

The remains of the late Peter McAleavey of H.M.S. Curlew, who passed away here following a street accident, were conveyed from the Sands Funeral Chapel this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's Church, Esquimalt, where Rev. Father Wood conducted mass and the funeral service. The church was filled with bluejackets from the British cruiser. The casket was borne on a guncarriage to the Naval cemetery, six stokers acting as pallbearers. At the graveside a volley was fired as the casket was lowered to rest.

The funeral of the late Edward Agar has been arranged to take place on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The funeral arrangements are with the Thomson Funeral Home.

There passed away at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hawking, Shawnigan Lake, after a lingering illness, Charles Woodruff, aged forty-four years, a native of Victoria. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Woodruff, one daughter, Beulah, also his father. He is survived by four brothers and four sisters. The late Mr. Woodruff was well known in this city, having run the Sooke stage for many years. The remains are resting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hawking until Saturday morning at 6 o'clock, when they will be conveyed to the Thomson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street, where funeral service will be held at 2.30 o'clock, after which the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The regular luncheon meeting of the board of directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will be held at 12.15 p.m. to-morrow in the Chamber of Commerce Cafe.

Ward Seven Cottage Gardeners will hold their ninth annual exhibition in Tillicum School on Saturday. The exhibition will be opened at 2.30 by Reeve R. Macnicol. All entries must be in before 11 on Saturday morning.

A meeting of Saanich Ward Two Cottage Gardeners' Society will be held at the home of Councillor William Graham, Tennyson Avenue, on Monday at 8 o'clock, to make arrangements for the annual flower show to be held in St. Mark's Hall, Boleskine Road on Setpember 4.

The Esquimalt Community moonlight excursion to Port Angeles on Wednesday evening was a very successful affair. The committee in charge wishes to thank all those who assisted to make the excursion such a success, especially the Naval Cadet Band who contributed an excellent programme by music.

Winners of "Malkins' Best Hampers" at Victoria Exhibition last week were as follows: Wednesday, Mrs. Morrison, Drife Street, ticket 195; Thursday, Mrs. Tyler, Lake Hill, ticket 375; Friday, Mrs. Graham, Avebury Avenue, ticket 615; Saturday, Mrs. Carnduff, Graham Street, ticket 1001.

Repairing an omission from the grounds of Victoria High School, that has been a frequent source of complaint by way of letters to the school board, workmen have now completed the erection of a flagstaff at the scene. The Union Jack will be flown from sunrise to sunset, and on public holidays and state occasions.

Chow Wo, interpreter of the Duncan police court, was on the witness stand under cross-examination by Frank Higgins, K.C., in the Mar Poy declamatory libel case in progress in the city court before Magistrate Jay to-day. He was questioned as to the accuracy of translations of letters written by the accused to Nip Sui Gim, a Chinese girl. The case continued all morning with little new evidence being taken but with Mr. Higgins going into exhaustive cross-examination.

Wm. McLeish, campaign manager for Mr. Martin may be reached at telephone No. 8129, while the general telephone for the Liberal headquarters is 8130, where enquiries will be gladly answered.

PACIFIC CABLE TO CUT RATES

Reduction Will be Made on Opening New Line, Sir James Allen Says

Cable rates between Canada and Australia will be again reduced by the Pacific Cable Board when the duplication of the service is completed, Sir James Allen, member of the Pacific Cable Board, and former High Commission for New Zealand in London, said last night as he sailed on the Aorangi for the Antipodes.

He said that the understanding between Canada and other members of the board had been cleared up, and that it was not all Canada's fault tht such a misunderstanding existed.

Work in laying the new cable from Fanning Island to Banfield by the cable ship Dominia should be completed by October, he said.

The coal strike has hit industry in Britain a severe blow, Sir James said, and he doubted whether England would get back the trade she has lost because of competition that is now being made against her by the coal and steel and other industries of Europe, United States and Canada.

Hon. J. C. L. Fitzpatrick, former colonial treasurer of New South Wales, also sailed on the Aorangi. He is on his way home after being presented to the King and Queen in London.

BRITISH MEMBERS SAIL FROM HERE FOR AUSTRALIA

Headed by the Marquis of Salisbury, as chairman, and Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, M.P., as vice-chairman, the British Parliamentary Party, delegates to the Empire Parliamentary Union, sailed from Victoria on the motorship Aorangi at 10 o'clock last night for Australia.

They will arrive at Sydney on September 18, and will visit the various states in turn, Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, Tasmania,, South Australia and Western Australia. At Canberra, the new capital, the party will present to the Commonwealth House of Representatives the Speaker's chair, subscribed for by members of the Empire Parliamentary Union in the British Parliament. This chair is a duplicate of that presented to the House of Commons at Ottawa, except that the oaken part of the chair is from H.M.S. Victory, Nelson's flagship. The tour will end at Freemantle on November 22, and the party sail for England by way of Suez. Australia is paying all expenses of the delegates while they are in that country, and will pay the costs of their trip back to England.

The next meeting of the Parliamentary Union may be held in Canada, delegates said last night.

"Among the many subjects that will be discussed at our conference in Australia is that of emigration from the United Kingdom to the Dominions," Mr. Henderson said before sailing.

"We propose to consider thoroughly the scientific redistribution of the population of the Empire to the advantage of the people themselves and with a view to strengthening the ties that bind together the British Commonwealth. I feel that something tangible in the way of constructive policy should result from the conference to stimulate the necessary legislative action.

"As a member of the Labor Party I am in entire sympathy with the principle of emigration to the Dominions, provided, of course, that the correct method is adopted.

"The members of the association are profoundly impressed by the wonderful possibilities that Canada offers, and although we have made a very hurried trip we have gathered a lot of valuable information."

SHOOTING EXCEPT BY TELESCOPE ON MOUNTAIN BANNED

Sportsmen to Keep Off Little Saanich Mountain, Now Game Sanctuary

After this "shooting" on Little Saanich Mountain will be confined to the giant Dominion Government telescope, which sweeps the heavens nightly, watching the stars.

By an order-in-council passed this week the Provincial Government has prohibited shooting of game on the mountain within the area owned by the Federal authorities. In the past hunters have pursued the illusive grouse and quail almost up to the sides of the Observatory, but this will not be allowed in future.

Creation of a game reserve here will provide a small but important sanctuary for birds in the heart of a district where shooting is heavy during the hunting season. In this wpy many birds will find safety and help to maintain the game population of the Saanich Peninsula.

Creation of the new reserve was recommended to the Government by the Game Conservation Board, headed by M. B. Jackson, K.C.

LAW STUDENTS ARE CALLED TO B.C. BAR

Two Vancouver Applicants Successful in Final Examinations

Presented by Lindley Crease, K.C., and Welcomed by Mr. Justice Macdonald

Two law students, successful in their final examinations, received their call to the bar and admission to the roll as solicitors in a brief ceremony before Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald this morning.

Lindley Crease, K.C., presented the applicants for call and admission. Miss Sadie Brown, and Wallace Ponsford, both of Vancouver, were welcomed by Mr. Justice Morrison in brief but cordial remarks.

Mr. Justice Macdonald commented on the fact that on the last occasion when law students took the oath in this city there had been thirty-five applicants for that honor. To-day, he noted, there were but two.

It was twenty-three years ago to a day that he himself had received his call to the bar, recalled His Lordship, wishing for those newly enjoying the honor the same measure of inspiration and success he had abstracted from the honored calling.

REBEKAHS HELD OLD-TIME SOCIAL

A most successful and enjoyable "old time" social was held in the Odd Fellows' Hall last evening under the auspices of Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1.

The first part of the programme was devoted to the songs of yesteryear and elocutionary numbers, contributed by Mesdames Charlotte Edwards, Sara Bainbridge, Laura Walker and Edith Todd, Misses Dorothy Todd, Florrie Sanders, and Winnie Foulds, Messrs. Charlie Ozard, Ashfield Walker and Master Billy Foulds. All these numbers received hearty encores.

The second part of the programme was a comedy sketch entitled "A Mock Marriage." Those taking part were: the bride, Rudolph Gonnason; the groom, Miss Letty Johnston; the minister, W. D. Todd; the bridesmaid, Mrs. Rhoda Ozard; the flower girl, Mrs. Lola Walker; the ringbearer, Miss Letty Johnston; the best man, Miss Olive Bainbridge; the bride's mother, Miss Alice Brown; the bride's aunts, Mrs. Elrick and Mrs. Munn; the choir, Mesdames Gonnason, Edwards, Bainbridge.

As the characters were all dressed in the styles of 1850 to 1900 this caused much merriment and was thoroughly enjoyed. At the conclusion of the sketch refreshments were served by the social committee.

The entire programme was contributed by members of the lodge and their families.

Tilden Will Oppose Alonzo in Tennis

Newport, R. I., Aug. 26—William T. Tilden, National tennis champion, and Manuel Alonzo, former Spanish Davis Cup players, will meet to-morrow in the semi-finals of the invitation tennis tournament.

Tilden to-day defeated Cranston Holman, Leland Stanford University 6-4, 6-3, and Alonzo Eliminated Dr. George King, New York, 6-0, 6-2.

Tilden, partnered with A. H. Chapin also entered the semi-finals of the doubles when they defeated Lionel Ogden and Cranston Holman 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

B. I. C. Norton defeated James Davies of California, 6-4, 6-3.

Norton will meet the winner of the Johnston-Chapin game, which will depend on Johnston's condition to-morrow morning.

TORIES SPEND OVER MILLION DOLLARS A DAY

any large amount of money on the eve or during the period of a general election was an indefensible course of procedure and that to award contracts of large amounts at such a time was to justify the suspicion in the public mind that one way of another they were connected with the campaign itself.

"I believe that no campaign since Confederation means as much to the people of this Dominion 4n the matter of rights of self-government, as the present," said Mr. King. "We have to-day a condition so subversive of all that self-government stands for that I believe the people have not become fully aware of it."

TAX AND TARIFF CUTS

The leader of the opposition reviewed the fiscal record of his Government with particular reference to the reductions of tariff and of direct taxation. Every individual in Canada had benefited by the Robb budget. If the Liberals were returned before the first session of the next parliamept was over there would be further reductions in taxation.

FOUND HANGING IN BASEMENT

S. W. McKay Believed to Have Taken Own Life; Inquest To-morrow

Found hanging in the cellar of his home at 651 Cornwall Street this morning at about 11 o'clock, S. William McKay, a youth of about twenty years, is believed to have committed suicide, according to reports from police headquarters given out to-day. Called to the scene of the tragedy at a few minutes after 11 o'clock, the police cut down the body of the dead youth and conveyed it to Sands Funeral Parlors where an inquest will be held to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

When found to-day, according to police, McKay had been dead some hours.

AUSTRALIANS SCORE 386

Canterbury, Eng., Aug. 26 (Canadian Press Cable)—The Australians scored 386 in their first innings against the County of Kent, the Australians staying in all day. The last man was disposed of a minute or two before time was called. Kent scored 321 in their first innings. The match will be concluded to-morrow.

TELLS STORY OF LONG STRUGGLE FOR CITY'S CATHEDRAL

J. C. M. Keith, Architect, Explains Details of Structure to Rotarians

The story of Victoria's new cathedral was told to the members of the Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel to-day by the man who drew the plans for the building and who has been associated with it ever since Victorians first talked over the structure, over thirty-five years ago.

J. C. M. Keith, architect, told his story of the long fight for success, interrupted by commercial and business unrest here, the smallpox plague and finally the war, but which has now been achieved. All the while he has given his services in the work, and has brought into being the plans for the greatest cathedral in all Canada.

It was in 1890 that the people of Victoria just decided that this city should have a cathedral, said J. C. M. Keith, architect and designer of plans for the splendid new Christ Church Cathedral. It was at that time, he said, that it was first advertised and architects throughout Canada and Great Britain commenced their drawings of plans for the church. With the greatest possible competition facing him, Mr. Keith jumped into the fight himself, and after months of work was ranked first, with London and Glasgow architects occupying second and third place respectively.

Ever since 1890, said Mr. Keith, he had been associated with the plans for the new cathedral.

HAD FINE MODELS

Speaking of the gothic architecture of the type after which the new cathedral is prepared, Mr. Keith stated that his design was taken largely from the great cathedrals of France and Great Britain, which he had studied.

Mr. Keith then proceeded to describe the new building. It was planned to connect the main church building with the Memorial Hall now standing. There were four giant pillars in the centre of the cathedral proper, he said, two of which would support over 2,000 tons each, while the other two held about 1,900 tons apiece. From plans which he had himself prepared, Mr. Keith showed the entrance, front and various other features of the church. The main span of the building was thirty-seven feet. This was equal or greater than the majority of English cathedrals. The centre span was eighty feet in height internally.

There was an outside pulpit, as well, to be used at out-of-doors services, said Mr. Keith.

He showed on the plans the place where the organ would stand, divided, one-half on the north and the other on the south side.

The two wing towers were 135 feet high, and thirty-three in width over all, without counting the buttresses. The main tower was 185 feet in height and considerably wider than the wing towers. The over-all length of the cathedral was 575 feet, and the width approximately 100 feet.

WILL HOLD 2,000

There were little differences on the two wing towers, which he pointed out to his hearers. There was the north chapel, too, which would be the most elaborate part of the whole church. The church, he said, could hold 2,000 persons on occasion, with ordinary accommodation for 1,400. Mr. Keith said there was probably no bigger cathedral in Canada.

E. D. Tomlin, president, gave the thanks of the club to the speaker. Mr. Tomlin expressed the hope that Mr. Keith might live to see the completion of the structure to which he had given so much of his life through the long thirty-six years.

ROTARY PICNIC

President Tomlin reported to-day the successful outing of Rotary's charges among the children who have been studying seed production, encouraged by the club, at the Experimental Farm, Saanich, yesterday afternoon. There were about thirty youngsters present, he said, who heard instructive little talks by experts, and who enjoyed the hospitality of Professor Straight of the farm staff and others.

The club will send a message of appreciation of work accomplished to Governor James Beatty of Rotary's northwest district, who is attending the conference of presidents, governors and secretaries of the club now in session.

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Pinned beneath their automobile when it overturned here this afternoon, Mrs. W. J. Vickerton of Olympia, Wash., was almost instantly killed and her husband, who was driving the car was perhaps fatally injured.

The accident occurred when Vickerton, attempting to turn a street corner, hit the curb. The couple had motored here from Olympia to spend a holiday.

HOTEL LOBBY GOSSIP

CHEER FOR LUCKY VICTORIANS

With good news generally, and a bank credit balance of interest to several Victoria men, F. Ahlburg, gasoline production expert of Los Angeles, arrived in Victoria this week.

To greet him at the Empress Hotel was Andrew Brownlee, head of the party of Victorians who joined in a lucky venture in California oilfields, and as a result are now depositing every month substantial cheques, at a rate which in little over a year will total up more than the whole of their investment.

Mr. Brownlee and his associates here now own with Mr. Ahlburg the $1,000,000 private corporation which is manufacturing Cashinghead gasoline from natural gas and selling their total output of between 6,000 and 7,000 gallons a day to the Standard Oil. Their plant is in the famous Signal Hill field, near Los Angeles.

WASTE GAS SAVED

"We have no gamble in drilling for oil, as we don't touch the oil," Mr. Ahlburg said. "We just handle the gas which gushes up from the oil wells and which until recently was all allowed to escape and was utterly lost. We reduce this gas to gasoline and sell it to the gasoline companies. As it is too rich, they use it for blending with lower grade gasoline.

"Since this process has been developed, there is now turned out in United States every day about 3,500,000 gallons of gasoline, made from natural gas, which formerly was allowed to escape."

TEA-DRINKING GROWS

If the people of the Atlantic Coast keep on increasing their tea drinking at the rate they have been doing of recent years, they soon won't have time for much more than drinking tea, according to M. Seaman of New York City, wealthy distributor and one of the partners in Seaman Brothers, owners of White Rose tea, and a number of well known lines of canned products. He arrived at the Empress Hotel this week with his wife and daughter. They have been touring the West all Summer and from here are going on to Lake Louise.

Advertising has been used to popularize tea in the East, Mr. Seamen explained, and his own firm alone spends $500,000 in advertising every year.

"Our campaigns have been productive of wonderful results, so much so that we find the possibilities of the field in the East big enough in itself without having to look to outside territory to develop," Mr. Seamen went on. "In less than a score of years the consumption of tea in the Eastern States has increased to ten times what it was."

STARTED UNDER "TEDDY" ROOSEVELT

Mr. Seamen has found much of sentimental interest to himself and his family in this trip through the West, as he recalled his early days when he started out his career as a cowpuncher on a ranch in Wyoming and was under a man known as Teddy Roosevelt, who a few years later became President of the United States.

"Another feature of this trip was what I saw when I visited the old ranch in Wyoming," Mr. Seamen went on. "When I went to New York from the West, I sold this ranch for $1 an acre. Now I found it bristling with oil wells and worth thousands of dollars an acre."

FRIEND OF SIR THOMAS

Mr. Seamen through trade connections is a friend of Sir Thomas Lipton, the British tea king, and also of the Hon. P. C. Larkin, High Commissioner for Canada in London, who for years has been the tea king of Canada.

Mr. Seamen has been spending his time on Victoria golf links. He said Colwood was becoming the equal of anything on the coast.

PROUD NEW YORKER

Another prominent New Yorker who has been here for several days is General W. C. Heppenheimer, Wall Street financier. He has been holidaying at the Empress Hotel with a party of friends including Mr. and Mrs. Vetran and Mrs. M. J. Stratford of New York.

The outstanding feature of the General's trip has been his experiences at Brentwood and it was one of the produest moments of his life when he arrived back at the Empress Hotel in the evening and reported his success. He had caught four salmon and they were all big ones. New York is going to hear about his prowess at Brentwood, the General said.

EASTERN MILITARY LEADER

Col. G. S. Cantlie of Montreal, a noted Canadian war leader, and organizer of some military units in the East, has been holidaying in Victoria this week at the Empress Hotel. With the Colonel is F. D. Law also of Montreal.

FROM PRAIRIES AND EAST

Among the Prairie and Eastern people here to-day are Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Stollery of Toronto, E. J. Bodley and W. R. Bodley, Miss L. A. Ball and Miss Ethel Hawke of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Davidson of Winnipeg, Mr. and Mrs. J. Glassop of Port Arthur, Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Rankin of Edmonton, George W. Robertsn of Regina, Mrs. Robert O'Callaghan and Mrs. Morgan Arnold of Calgary, Robert Jacob of Winnipeg, Mrs. Frank Bogart of Helena, Mont., Mrs. A. G. Munich and Miss M. Munich of Montreal, Mrs. de Sousa and Mrs. Pirie and son of Edmonton, Mrs. J. E. Lodge of Calgary, Miss J. Crutchlow and Mrs. W. G. J. Stephen of Winnipeg, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Shart of Toronto, who are at the Empress Hotel.

MAINLANDERS HERE

Among the Mainland people at the Empress Hotel are Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Dobson, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Erskine and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kolroyd Puall, Dr. and Mrs. Archibald Smith of Vancouver, Mrs. Robert E. Bronson and her son, and Mrs. A. J. Shorrock, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Rich, all of Seattle, who are at the Empress Hotel.

An Edmonton party at the Empress Hotel is made up of Mr. and Mrs. Winifred Abbott. Miss Doris Abbott, Miss Claire Abbott, Mrs. C. B. Webb and her child.

Another Edmontonite here is Miss Balfour who is at the Empress Hotel with Mrs. A. A. Ross of Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Magill are down from Shawnigan Lake and are at the Empress Hotel.

COCHET COMES BACK

Forest Hills, N.Y., Aug. 26.—Staging a sensational comeback after being close to defeat in straight sets, Henri Cochet of France, conquered Tsumio Tawara of Japan, to-day in the first match of the Davis Cup interzone series to determine America's challenge for the tennis trophy.

Hornsby's Cardinals Once Again Sit Atop The National League

Cardinals, Playing Great Ball, Now Half-game Ahead of Pittsburgh Pirates

Uhle of Cleveland Wins His Twenty-first Game of Season by Beating Yankees

New York, Aug. 26.—The National League kaleidoscope found the St. Louis Cardinals topping the list by a half-game margin over Pittsburgh. The mid-west team took a four-to-three victory from the Boston Braves yesterday in an eleven inning game.

The restless Brooklyn aggregation, ever a thorn in the side of the Pittsburgers, yesterday turned about and beat the league leaders 2-1, while the New York Giants, whose supporters were beginning to fear that they never would win another ball game, torpedoed the ten-win streak of the Cincinnati Reds also by a 2-1 count. Max arey, formerly captain of Pittsburgh, delivered the hit that won for Brooklyn.

The Chicago Cubs took another punch at the Phillies, making their third straight conquest of the series, 3-2.

UHLE WINS ANOTHER

Rain soused down on the American League again, but not until George Uhle, of the Cleveland Indians, had plastered the New York Yanks with a 6-0 coat of whitewash. The game marked Uhle's twenty-first win of the season and his iffth in a row over the league-leaders. The second game of a scheduled double-header was rained out, as were the St. Louis-Washington and Chicago-Philadelphia contests.

The Detroit Tigers took both games of a double-header from Boston, 11-4 and 7-6.

Jess Doyle scored a 5-0 shutout over Jersey City, giving the Toronto Leafs a clean sweep of their four game series.

Baltimore, who are well behind Toronto in second place in the International League, also won, defeating Rochester 4-3.

LA BARA WINS

Chicago, Aug. 25—Fidel La Bara, flyweight champion, won a referee's decision over Happy Atherton of Indianapolis in the 10-round windup of a boxing card at Lyola University gymnasium to-night. La Bara's title was not at stake. The champion weighed 116 and Atherton 113½.

In the semi-final bout Emil Paluso of Salt Lake City, defeated Ernie Peters of Chicago in a 10-round decision match. Both are contenders for the flyweight crown and boxed at 116.

SIR TOM SAILS TO VICTORY IN YACHT RACE AT 'FRISCO

San Francisco, Aug. 26—Under sailing conditions entirely to the liking of Southern California and Northwestern yachtsmen, visiting competitors led the field in the second race of the R. Class series at the fourth annual Pacific Coast championship regatta here yesterday.

The boats were gretted with a gay day, a persistent rain and a wind that blew lazily at intervals.

The Sir Tom, Seattle Yacht Club craft skippered by Jack Graham, sailed to a victory, moving over the approximately 13-mile championship course in two hours and 52 minutes. A minute and 36 seconds later the Alert III, handled by Clair Neuner of the Santa Barbara Yacht Club, crossed the line to finish second.

Australia Replies With 231 Runs For Loss Of Six Wickets

First Three Wickets Fell With Score at 86; Batsmen Then Improved

Canterbury, Eng., Aug. 26 (Canadian Press Cable)—The Australians had scored 86 runs for three wickets in their reply at lunch time to-day to the first innings score by Kent of 321. This cricket match began yesterday and will be continued to-day and to-morrow.

The score at the tea-hour was: Kent, first innings, 321; Australia, first innings, 231 for six wickets.

The Australians opened their innings with Taylor and Macartney. At 14, Taylor was snapped up. Macartney made a steady start, but at 37 mistimed a ball from Freeman and was caught out. Collins and Gregory came together and took the score to 86, when Gregory was taken by Ashdown off Freeman's bowling.

Kent's score yesterday was as follows:

London, Aug. 26.—Surrey defeated Yorkshire in the first innings of a county cricket match which ended yesterday. The scores were: Yorkshire, first innings, 274; second innings, 265. Surrey, first innings, 355 for nine declared.

Court Action By Corbett Did Not Come Off On Time

His Lawyer Now Says an Injunction Will be Served; Seats on Sale For Fight

Philadelphia, Aug. 26.—Threatened court action of James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, who claims to have had an understanding with the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition authorities to hold the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight title bout in the Sesqui stadium did not materialize yesterday.

"I think the action we propose will take the form of an injunction," said John J. McDevitt, counsel for Corbett yesterday. "Corbett and I feel we have not been treated fairly. We were assured if the fight came here we would have exclusive right to the stadium. We had planned to hold the fight July 4, but dropped the matter when we were led to believe it could not be staged here."

Some tickets for the fight were placed on sale here yesterday. They included all but the $3.30 admission tickets, which will not go on sale until 9 a.m. of the day of the fight.

Officials of the Sesqui Centennial Exposition yesterday invited the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission to use the Sesqui auditorium for the weighing-in of Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney the afternoon of September 23. The fighters are to show their weight in the presence of the members of the commission. The commission is understood to be favorable to the proposal, but will not make its decision known until the principals in the coming battle are consulted.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Yakima, Wash., Aug. 26—Mrs. C. W. Howard of Bellingham, was chosen president of the Women's State Golf Association yesterday following matches in the championship flight at the Yakima Country Club. Other officers are: Vice-president, Mrs. H. M. Pease of Seattle; treasurer, Mrs. Jesse Mills of Olympia. The 1927 tournament will be held the last week in August in Bellingham.

Prominent Golfers Seek Western Open Title; Play To-day

Two Hundred and Fifty Players Tee Off at Indianapolis; Keen Competition

Indianapolis, Aug. 26.—Approximately 250 golfers teed off this morning in threesomes to compete in the first 36 holes of the qualifying round of the Western open golf championship over the Highland Golf and Country Club here.

Eighteen holes to-day and eighteen Friday will determine the sixty-four qualifiers to enter the final 36 holes Saturday for the championship.

The largest field ever entered in the event includes the class of American professionals and most of the country's best amateurs, only the redoubtable Bobby Jones and Bill Mehlhorn of Chicago being among the missing.

MacDonald Smith, present champion, started out yesterday with a large crowd watching him reel off "birdies."

Chick Evans of Chicago, only amateur to have won the Western open, Walter Hagen, Al. Watrous, runner-up in the British open; Joe Turnesa, second to Bobby Jones in the American open; Gene Sarazen, Leo Diegel and Jock Hutchison, all professionals, had large galleries watching their practice rounds yesterday.

HORSE RACING

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 26.—Challenging the field of six three-year-olds at the three-eights pole, Mushon took the lead and finished handily to win the Vancouver Derby at Lansdowne Park yesterday. Behind him two and a half lengths away finished Kaliko, with Dr. Larrabee third, but only by a neck. Jack Fairman, carrying an impost of 130 pounds, leading from start to finish, won the Stewart Handicap of six furlongs by two and a half lengths from Merry Chase.

SUMMARY OF RESULTS

New York, Aug. 26—The Log Cabin stable's Friedjofnansen, flashing a much improved performance, took the $5,000 Adirondack handicap, a six-furlong sprint for two-year-olds, in decisive fashion at Saratoga yesterday. Earl Sande piloted Laddie into second place, five lengths behind the leader. Easy Money was third. The time was 1.14.

Sergeant Seth, was the best of a good field of two-year-olds that raced in the five and a half furlong claiming feature at Lincoln fields track. He was a heavy favorite with Foreclose second and Rosetta Stone third. The time was 1.06 2-5.

Two horses died at the Lincoln Fields track yesterday. Daleho, owned by Haughton and Moran, broke his neck in a workout spill. Red Lamp, the property of J. B. Partridge, died of pneumonia.

Saratoga Springs, N.Y. Aug. 26—The Whitney family, whose colors long have been famous on the American turf, has a new representative among racing owners in John Hay Whitney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney of New York.

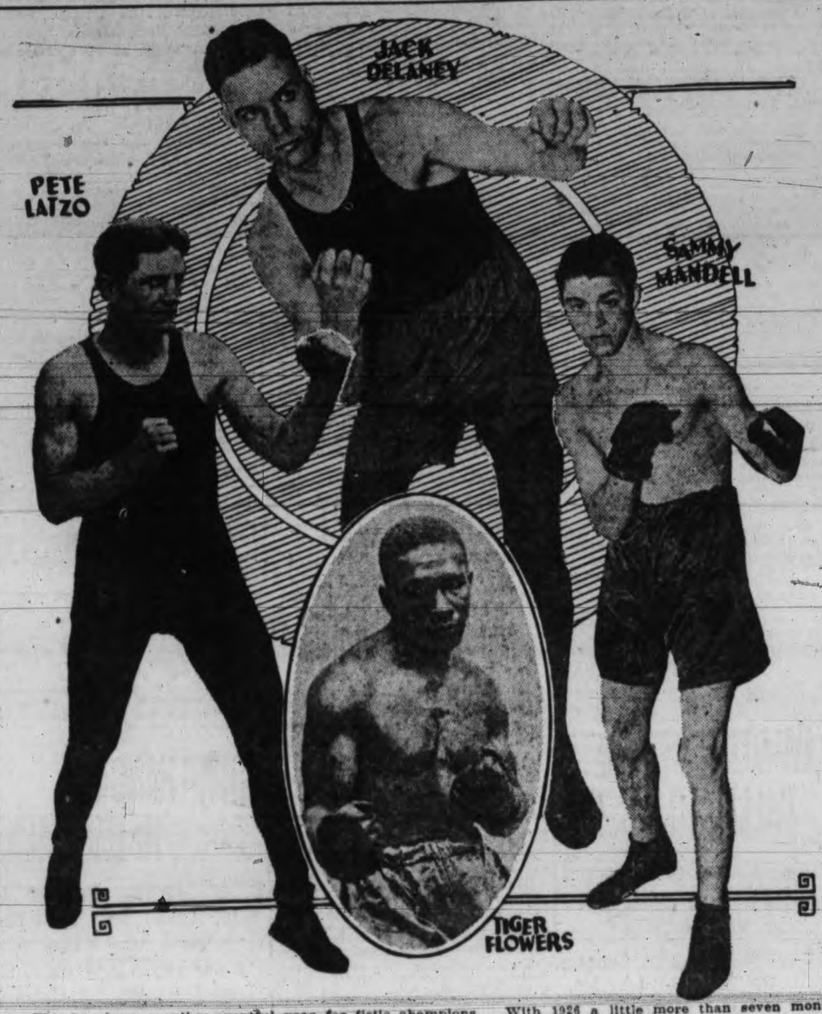
Yesterday was young Mr. Whitney's birthday and in honor of it his father purchased two fine colts for him at last night's sales besides giving him a yearly filly by Whiskbroom II and a colt by North Star III.

Hockey News

Port Arthur, Ont., Aug. 24.—Reports in the Eastern press to the effect that Lorne Chabot, goal tender, and Alex. Gray, centre forward of the Port Arthur Allen Cup hockey team, would play next season with the New York Rangers, are said by the players concerned to be incorrect.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The Toronto Star said yesterday: "The National Hockey League Clubs are signing up hockey players of the Western Canada League as free agents regardless of Frank Patrick or any of the owners of the clubs. They take the stand that the players are free agents, as the Western League has gone out of business. The N.H.L. resents Patrick's attempt to form a new professional league in opposition to that organization."

FOUR RING TITLES CHANGE HANDS THIS YEAR; WILL DEMPSEY'S ALSO PASS ALONG?



This has been a rather eventful year for fistic champions. With 1926 a little more than seven months along four new title holders have been crowned.

Only the fact that Babe Herman didn't make weight enabled Tod Morgan to retain his junior lightweight honors. Herman won decisively from the Californian.

Paul Berlenbach is the latest champion to lose his title. As predicted by most of the experts, Jack Delaney proved his superiority but not by the knockout route as generally expected. He merely won on points.

As a matter of fact, of the four titles that changed hands, not one was won by a "kayo." Tiger Flowers beat Harry Greb on points. Pete Latzo received the decision over Mickey Walker, Sammy Mandell just managed to shade Rocky Kansas, while Delaney proved too clever for Berlenbach.

Winning a championship is far more impressive when the trick is turned with a sleep-producing punch. So in that respect all the new champions have left something to be desired.

Kid Kaplan and Fidel La Bara, feather and flyweight champions, respectively, are the only ones to have successfully defended their championships during 1926.

Kaplan, because of his inability to make the weight has since vacated the featherweight class. The new champion is yet to be determined.

Truly, the year 1926 will be one long to be remembered by the pugilistic champions. Next month Jack Dempsey risks his crown in Philadelphia and many think that he will go the way of the other champions and that Tunney will win.

Boys' Amateur Golf Championship Nears "Semis" in England

Coombe Hill, Surrey, Eng., Aug. 26—Charles Sweeney, tall hard-hitting American boy from Connecticut, yesterday greatly improved his chances of winning the boys' amateur golf championship by defeating I. R. Patry on the last green.

To-day in the fifth round Sweeney will meet E. A. McCurrie, a Scotch boy, who is another strong favorite for final honors.

The championship field in the tournament now has been reduced to eight, four Englishmen, three Scotsmen and Sweeney. Fred Waters, the Scotch boy was out of luck yesterday, being badly defeated by Patry.

LAWN BOWLING

The last game in the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling League at Burnside, Saturday, between the Burnsiders and the Victoria Rangers, will be a strenuous affair.

The Victoria Rovers, who are likely to be the new cup holders, will be opposed by the C.P.R.'s best eight who can be relied upon to work hard for two more points.

The Ramblers, who appear to be sliding down into second or third place, will be at home to the Burnside second eight who are to be commended for continuing their uphill fight to the bitter end.

Games in arrear between the teams of the Victoria Club will be played off before Labor day.

Shatters Record For 1,500 Metres But is Not Likely to Get it

Paris, Aug. 26.—Georges Baraton, the French middle distance champion, yesterday ran the 1,500 metres at the Colombes Stadium in 3 minutes 50 2-5 seconds. This is 21-5 seconds better than the world's record hung up by Nurmi at Helsingfors in 1924, 3.57 3-5.

It is not likely that this record will be ratified because no official of the French Federation was present, but three reliable clockers timed the French champion. In addition, Baraton is under suspension by the French Athletic Federation.

Full Afternoon's Sport At Bicycle Races On Saturday

Races For Bandsmen and H.M.S. Curlew's Personnel Added to Programme

Saturday's meeting of the Four C's Cycle Club promises to be of much interest to followers of the bike game. With the assurance that Vancouver riders will be here the success of the meet is guaranteed, and the local boys will have to step on their peddles if they wish to win the prizes. As most of the events are sprints it looks as though Leo Marchiori, of Vancouver, stands a good chance to go home with a little more luggage than he comes over with.

For the ten events on the programme 127 riders will compete. There will be two heats in each event, thereby giving a full afternoon's sport.

A bicycle race for the men of the H.M.S. Curlew has been added to the programme.

The Foresters' Juvenile Band will be in attendance and will play during the afternoon. A flat race for members of the band will also be run. This is to be a 100-yard race, the runners to play their respective instruments while in action.

Officers and men of H.M.S. Curlew in uniform will be admitted to the grounds free.

The programme will be:

Half mile Junior Club championship, boys under sixteen years of age.

Half mile open handicap, boys under thirteen years of age.

One mile open handicap.

One hundred yards open flat handicap.

Quarter mile open novice handicap.

One mile Club championship, Mayor J. C. Pendray's perpetual challenge trophy.

Two hundred and twenty yards, open flat handicap.

Half mile open handicap.

Obstacle race.

In-and-out race.

BIG WRESTLING CARD

Vernon, Cal. Aug. 26—Wayne "Big" Munn, Nebraska heavyweight wrestler, versus Howard Cantonwine, Iowa, and Joe "Toots" Mondt, Colorado, versus Bill Demetral, Greek heavyweight were matched was announced to-day by Promoter John De Palma to back up a bout between Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, claimant of the world's heavyweight title, and Mike Romano, Italian, here August 31.

Sidney Scores Easy Win in Commercial Baseball Play-off

Good work on the part of Williams, their twirling ace, both on the mound and at bat, materially helped Sidney to take a one-game advantage in the Commercial Baseball League play-off at Sidney last night. Williams' victims were the Tillicums, whom he held to five hits. His team mates pounded the offerings of "Lefty" Campbell and Rhodes for a total of twelve runs to give them a 12-5 victory. The next game of the play-off series will be played on the same ground on Labor Day.

When Williams clouted the ball for four bases in the sixth inning with two men on, he won the game for the millmen. Sidney had scored one run in the first, two in the second, one in the third and another in the fifth, for a total of five as opposed to their opponent's four in the fourth session. But after the sixth frame they enjoyed a 9-5 lead, the Tillicums registering once in the latter half of the inning. Not content with an already overwhelming score the millmen ran across three more counters in the seventh for a total of twelve.

Harold Fetherstone umpired and the teams were:

Sidney—Dick, ss; Lines, c; Crossley, 2b; Simpson, 3 b; Williams, p; Bishop, rf; McNeil, cf; and Lind, 1b.

Tillicums—McLaren, rf; McDiarmid, 1 b; Hilton, c; Barr, cf; Campbell, p; Anderson, 3 b; Taylor, 2b; McNaughton, ss; and Rhodes, lf.

Edmonton, Aug. 26—Regina Balmorals captured the baseball series from the Edmonton All-Stars here last night by winning the final game 12 to 2. The tourists scored almost at will. They won the series, two games to one.

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Young Liberals hit the ball hard at Athletic Park last night and Britannia Beach was beaten 13 to 0 in the Provincial baseball play-offs. The game was called for darkness at the end of the sixth inning. The Grits were in form, got all the breaks and never looked like losing.

The same teams will battle again on Thursday night, and a win for the Liberals will send them into the next round, which will be against either Fraser Mills or Travelers of Victoria.

Against Britannia Beach the Liberals scored one in the first, three in the third, another three in the fourth, one in the fifth and five in a hectic sixth.

BOLD ARCHER LEADS FIELD HOME AT YORK WINNING FEATURE

York, Eng., Aug. 26 (Canadian Press Cable). — Bold Archer, owned by H. Shaw, won by three lengths the famous Gimcrack Stakes, feature of the important meeting at York this afternoon. Sir Philip Newson's colt Friar of Orders Gray, was second. Lord Beaverbrook's colt Nipisiquit, and Sir Abe Bailey's Dingaan's Day were dead-heated for third place.

Fourteen horses ran.

The betting: Bold Archer, 12-2 against; Friar of Orders Gray, 6-1; Nipisiquit and Dingaan's Day, 100-8.

The distance was six furlongs, and the purse about $6,000. The race is for two-year-olds.

Sailors Lose Out In Football Game With Local Team

Eleven From H.M.S. Curlew Work Hard But Are Beaten By Wednesday Leaguers

An orphan goal, scored by Drake early in the second half, was the margin by which the Wednesday League football all-stars defeated the team from the H. M. S. Curlew at the Royal Athletic Park last evening. It was an exhibition fixture arranged for the entertainment of the visiting tars and proved a great success. The visitors displayed a fine knowledge of the game and had the locals outplayed at times, especially during the first half, when they came close to scoring twice.

Good combination work by the Wednesday League forwards gave them their lone goal, soon after the second period opened. Drake let drive with a hard, low shot from close in and found the net. Several attacks were directed on the local goal by the sailors in an effort to tie up the count, brt they were held back until the final whistle.

Percy Payne refereed and the teams were:

Victoria Wednesday League—Shrimpton (captain); Glancy and Harper; Preston, Tupman and Stewart; Taylor, Owens, Drake, T. Peden and Tooby.

H.M.S. Curlew—Tyldesley; Passmore and Townsend; Beeley, Wyers and Bellamy; Parton, Boyd, Hayhow, Bannister and Polder.

A return game will be played next Wednesday on the same grounds, with the H.M.S. Curlew band in attendance.

Five C's Win Third Straight Game But Rally Is Too Late

Tillicums Easily Conquered By Club Which Has Been at Tail All Season

Five C's hung up their third straight victory when they defeated the Tillicums yesterday afternoon at Beacon Hill. The Five C's, however, have started their rally too late as the Hudson's Bay have too big a lead and have already been assured of the championship.

The Tillicums were retired for 124 runs, Trumper, with seven wickets for 47 runs, being the thorn in their side.

In their innings the Five C's scored 144 for the loss of eight wickets, E. Quainton being high bat with 37.

Too Much Speed In Ross's Engine For Other Cars In Field

Seattle's Famous Racer Pilots His Car Through Three Races to Victory

Two Accidents But Only One Rider Suffers Injury; Four Cars Disabled

Jack Ross of Seattle, Ray Deeley of Vancouver, and "Swede" Smith of North Bend, Wash., were the lucky individuals in the motor races held at the Willows track yesterday afternoon. Ross was fortunate in winning three races and $350 in prize money, while both Deeley and Smith can shake hands with themselves over coming through their spills without being attended by serious injuries.

Deeley figured in the worse mishap of the afternoon. He was well out in front in the first motorcycle race when he skidded on the north turn and was hurled forty feet through the air. He fell heavily and did not move. The motorcyclists, following on, passed his prostrate body and the ambulance rushed to his assistance. Dr. Grant, who examined the rider, found that, outside of a bad shaking up and a slight concussion, he was alright. The motorcycle races for the rest of the day were called off. Deeley had a speedy machine but he took the turns with one foot and hand out, something after the fashion of a speed skater.

SMITH'S FINE CONTROL

"Swede" Smith was not in favor with the Fates during the afternoon. In the three-mile race for the B.C. championship he threw a rear wheel but pulled up without further mishap. In the fifteen-mile tear he hugged the rail on the north corner a little too close and ripped out twenty feet of it. He turned at right angles to the track and shot almost over the bank, but by smart control he brought the car back on to the track and started away again after the leaders. He soon withdrew from the contest.

Jack Ross, one of the finest drivers on the coast, had his Dodge Special rolling in great style. He was second in the mile against time, "Swede" Smith taking the honor in one minute and five seconds. Ross was three-fifths of a second longer going around.

ALWAYS IN FRONT

Ross stepped out to win the five-mile race over Jack Smith of Victoria, who tried hard in his pee-wee bus to get into the lead. Ross always had the speed to make the first turn in the lead and no one had a chance to catch him after that.

Ross retained his title as B.C. champion over three miles, when he came within four seconds of breaking the world's record for the event. Jack Smith was again second with Phil Churchill of North Bend, Wash., third.

The fifteen-mile race drew seven starters, but only three stuck the route. Ross, as usual, was away in front with Jack Smith following him. "Swede" Smith was the first to be counted out when he crashed into the railing and did some weird manoeuvres. Gus Duray moved up into third place and was on the tail of Smith when his Stutz began pounding and he withdrew. Churchill, in his fine-looking Churchill Special, then took up the chase of the local car but something went bang and he pulled into the "pits" and quit. Smith was the next man to be visited with affliction. He got a flat tire and, after bumping around for a lap, signalled to the "pits" for a quick change. The wheel was whipped off in quick time and Jack went away once again but a connecting rod broke shortly afterwards and the Victoria entry had to take place alongside the other crocks. Ross had lapped both the remaining entries and finished with his engine cut-down. R. Burnstrom of Seattle was second, and R. Benson of Seattle, third. The time for this event was 17 minutes and 17 seconds.

The results were as follows:

One mile against time—1, Geo. Smith, North Bend, Wash., Snyder Special, time 1 min. 5 secs.; 2, Jack Ross, Seattle, Dodge Special, time 1 min. 5 4-5 secs; 3, Jack Smith, Victoria, 1 min. 6 3-5 seconds.

Five miles (light cars) — 1, Gus Drury, Vancouver, Stutz Special, time 5 mins. 48 secs.; 2, R. Burnstrom, Seattle, Burnstrom Special; 3, R. Benson, Seattle, Benson Special.

Five miles open—1, Jack Ross, Seattle, Dodge Special, time 5 mins. 32 1-5 secs.; 2, Jack Smith, Victoria, Chevrolet Special; 3, Geo. Smith, North Bend, Wash.; Snyder Special.

Three miles match, B.C. championship—1, Jack Ross, Seattle, Wash., Dodge Special, time 3 mins. 22 1-5 secs.; 2, Jack Smith, Victoria, Chevrolet Special; 3, Phil Churchill, North Bend, Wash., Churchill Special.

Fifteen miles (free for all)—1, Jack Ross, Seattle, Dodge Special, time 17 mins. 17 secs.; 2, R. Burnstrom, Seattle.

Crack Rifle Shot Back From Bisley

Sergeant-Major Dave Fyvie of the 16th Canadian Scottish, one of Victoria's representatives at the Bisley shoot this year, returned to the city yesterday. He is the first of the local contingent to return. Accompanying him from Ottawa were Bdr. Britton of the 5th Regiment, C.G.A., and Sergeant Beaumont of the 16th Canadian Scottish, both of whom attended the Dominion Rifle Association shoot, coming out with signal honors.

AT THE THEATRES

"SEA HORSES," AT COLUMBIA THEATRE, MASSIVE SPECTACLE

Given colorful action, tale of romance and adventure, and told to produce it on a sweeping, spectacular scale, Allan Dwan has made of Francis Brett Young's dynamic novel, "Sea Horses," a thrill-crowded melodrama of striking beauty and picturesqueness now at the Columbia Theatre.

The plot deals in vigorous and refreshing manner with the stirring experiences of a lovely, cultured English girl on board an ocean freighter and in an isolated port on the East African coast.

This combination of land and sea background adds immeasurably to the charm and fascination of the photoplay. Dwan has recreated with amazing fidelity the rough, coarse life of those who go down to the sea in ships, and has reproduced with vivid realism the strange, sinister atmosphere of mysterious Africa.

Jack Holt plays perfectly up to the virile requirements of the fearless sea captain. It is a role made to order for him, and he handles it in his characteristic two-fisted fashion. The part of the lone girl, battling bravely against hidden dangers and overwhelming odds, is made radiant by the loveliness and talent of Florence Vidor. Those who enthused over George Bancroft's portrayal of the smiling villain in "The Pony Express" will glory in his characterization of the burly, brutal mate, who redeems himself with his final self-sacrifice. And the role of the drunken, degenerate beach-comber brings to William Powell fresh opportunities in that line of character portraiture, in which he is especially effective.

"MANTRAP" FEATURES CANADIAN WOODLANDS IN VACATION DRESS

"Mantrap," which plays at the Dominion Theatre this week, is a distinctly new kind of Canadian woods story. For one thing, it has no Northwest Mounted Police. Secondly, it deals with the woods in mid-Summer, when they are the paradise of campers and vacationers, and not, with three feet of snow.

In fact, the whole story, which is by Sinclair Lewis, the author of "Main Street," "Babbitt" and "Arrowsmith," is unusual throughout. A distinctly novel type of love story predominates, with Clara Bow as the girl, and Ernest Torrence and Percy Marmont the men. Paramount's latest production was directed by Victor Fleming.

QUAINT INN IS TRANSFORMED BY BOISTEROUS PARTY

In "Nearly Married," the Ed Redmond production at the Coliseum this week, the scene at Cherry Tree Inn is very cleverly constructed.

The scene opens showing the living-room of the inn with its quaint ornaments and bric-a-brac and subdued lighting, the whole atmosphere undergoing a complete change as party after party of guests arrive. The boisterous good humor and clever repartee of the company, stunning gaily-colored gowns of the ladies and the dazzling lighting effects combine to give an air of brilliance difficult to reconcile with one's first impresson of the inn.

GIRL IN TUXEDO IS A SURPRISE IN FILM AT CAPITOL THEATRE

Two very individual costumes stand out among the gorgeous display of wraps, gowns and lingerie in the elaborate Fashion Show in Fox Films production "Fig Leaves." This photo-drama, starring Olive Borden, is the attraction again to-day at the Capitol Theatre.

The first is a trim tuxudo of black chiffon velvet worn by Barbara Clayton. This is made with a severely tailored skirt, a mannish dinner coat over a black brocaded silk vest and formal tucked evening shirt. Completing the dress is a stiff tri-corner hat of black hatter's plush and a malaca cane.

Another original dress is that worn by Betty Recklaw for misty weather. This is a raincoat of rubberized cloth of gold made in the conventional Sou'wester style with a turban of gold rubber cloth and gold colored rubber boots to match.

Olive Borden wears some marvelous gowns when she appears as the featured model in the Fashion Show. George O'Brien plays the leading male role with Andre de Beranger.

Others in the cast are Phyllis Haver, Eulalie Jensen, William Austin, Charles Conklin, Dorothy Dunbar and Cecilie Evans. Howard Hawks, author of the original story from which the picture was adapted, directed the production.

BERT LYTELL, GLOBE TROTTER, IN SERVICE OF SILVER SCREEN

The making of photoplays has turned Bert Lytell into a globe trotter of the first water. Back from a stay of three months in the South Seas, where he went for the screening of "Never the Twain Shall Meet" at the island of Tahiti, he was forthwith shipped from Hollywood to Northern Canada for the filming of "Steele of the Royal Mounted," the Vitagraph picture founded on James Oliver Curwood's story, that will be seen at the Playhouse Theatre this week.

Upon the completion of "Steele," he joined Claire Windsor for a trip into Mexico, where Miss Windsor became Mrs. Lytell.

Previous to the filming of the South Sea picture, he had gone to Northern Africa for the filming of "A Son of the Sahara," making the necessary stops—necessary for the full enjoyment of the trip—in Paris and London. In between times he was busy making pictures in New York and Hollywood.

LITERARY NOTES

"According to an old, old legend, the Chinese first learned to make paper by watching the wasp build her nest," we are told in the first chapter of "Modern Alladins and Their Magic," by Charles E. Rush and Amy Winslow. "A Chinaman, watching the wasp one day, discovered that she took a bite of wood, chewed it into paste, and smeared it on her nest. When the paste became dry it turned into something like our paper. Thus the Chinese learned to make paper from wood long before any other people in the world." The authors of this popular juvenile, which has just gone into its second printing, have designed this book to answer the eager questions of children in regard to the wonderful things in the world about them.

Courtney Ryley Cooper in "High Country: The Rockies, Yesterday and To-day," cites the following story to prove that the West is a hardy land: "Not so long ago, I went up to see old Jesse Randall, who came out to the gold country when every mining town had its Hotel de Paris, and the nuggets lay on the roulette tables in scoopfuls. . . . He's eighty odd now, and they call him the Grand Old Man of country journalism, for he is still the reporter, editor, typesetter, printer, job man, mailing department and janitor of his paper. . . . But when I saw him, there was a sad glint in his aged eyes, a drop to his aged mouth. 'I'm not able to get around like I used to,' he wailed. 'Every now and then I miss a good story, just by not circulating like I used to.' 'Well,' said I, striving to put the subject of his advanced age as gently as possible, 'a man can't stay young forever.' He looked up innocently. 'Oh, it isn't that,' he said. 'Feeling fine, I am. But you see, my father's living with me now, and in the last few months he's just gotten awful feeble!'"

An unusual item in this year's offering is Lewis Joseph French's "The Book of Chinese and Japanese Verse." This is said to be the first collection which aims at general completeness that has so far been made. The purpose of the book is to give a comprehensive idea of the development of Chinese and Japanese poetry. Copious notes add to the value of the collection.

Which book would you rather have written than any other? Miss Fanny Butcher, literary editor of the Chicago Tribune, has recently put this question to several present-day authors, whose answers she has printed under the heading of "Confessions." Sylvia Thompson, author of the "Hounds of Spring," now in its fifty-third thousand, wrote to Miss Butcher: "I would rather have written 'Peter Pan' than anything else—and next to that, perhaps, 'The Wind in the Willows' by Kenneth Grahame. Not, of course, that I have really ever wanted to have written anything. I would rather read than write—and much rather live—in a nice, normal, varied, friendly way, than either of these secondary occupations. How grim to come to the end of life—and suddenly realize one had done nothing except write a few books! One might spend eternity in regretting one's waste of existence.

Lord Oxford and Asquith, after his controversy with Lloyd George, has been recuperating in Yorkshire as the guest of the Hon. Geoffrey Howard, where he has completed his book, "Fifty Years of British Parliament." It will throw a flood of light upon events of historical significence and will contain some interesting sketches of political friends and contemporaries, along with new matter touching acute controversial topics. The work will be in two volumes.

Mr. Shane Leslie, cousin of the Hon. Winston Churchill and for some years editor of the Dublin Review, has written a life of George IV. in which Mrs. Fitzherbert, the Prince Regent's real wife, though not his queen, figures a great deal. Brentwood

Brentwood, Aug. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Heyer have returned home from an enjoyable visit to their former home at Carstairs, Alta., where they spent the last month.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay and daughter, of Victoria, are spending a holiday as the guests of Mrs. A. E. Hole, Clarke Avenue.

Mrs. Fred Walker and daughter Norma, of Bamberton, spent a few days this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Freeland, Stelly Cross Road.

The Misses Ethel and Nell Wyles, of Victoria, have been spending a holiday at their cottage at the Bay.

Judge Fehr, of Indianapolis, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Broadhurst, left Tuesday for the South.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Fox are occupying their new home on Tomlinson Road.

The West Saanich W.I. entertained at a military five-hundred party in the Institute Hall on Tuesday evening. Seven tables of players took part in the game and at the end of a keen contest, tables No. 2 and No. 3 were leading with twenty-five flags each. After a play-off the prizes went to No. 2 table, the players at the tables being Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. S. Lee, Miss Phyllis Maber and A. Lacouslere. Three tables tied for consolation with seventeen flags. Mrs. T. Haddon, Mrs. A. Lacouslere, Miss Holly Lacouslere and C. Gosselin at No. 4 table were declared winners on a cut of the cards.

The ladies' first prizes, beautifully embroidered towels, were the kind donation of Mrs. Jarvis.

Refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed. The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. R. J. Freeland, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. T. Haddon and Miss Hilda Maber.

Mrs. French and daughter, of Vancouver, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Sluggett at their Summer home at the Bay.

Ravages of Diphtheria

By DR. HUGH S. CUMMING

Diphtheria is another disease, the ravages of which have been greatly reduced during the last quarter of a century, as a glance at the accompanying chart will show.

These results are undoubtedly due, in very great measure, to more careful and more accurate diagnostic methods; to early treatment with anti-toxin; better isolation of cases, and, lately, to immunization by the use of a mixture of toxin-antitoxin.

Diphtheria is a disease more especially of temperate climates. It may occur at any season of the year, but is most common in the Winter months. However, an epidemic once started may run its course uninfluenced by season, and measures to combat the disease should be prosecuted as vigorously in July as in December.

Among the most important facts to be remembered about diphtheria are the following:

1. It is highly contagious.
2. Early diagnosis and early treatment with anti-toxin are of the utmost importance in saving life once the disease is contracted.
3. The Schick test, performed by your doctor or by your health department will show whether your child is susceptible to the disease.
4. The administration of toxin-anti-toxin to the susceptible child will render him immune, usually for the rest of his life.

It takes from six weeks to three months after the administration of anti-toxin before the child becomes immune. Do not wait until diphtheria appears in your community or your school before having this done.

The death rate from diphtheria is still much too high. A case of diphtheria should be a rare occurance if the co-operation of all parents could be secured in having their children examined.

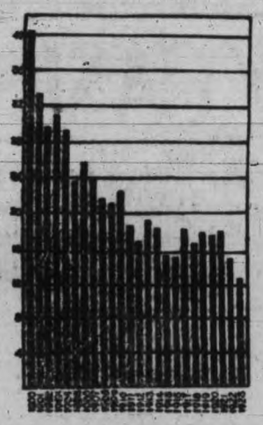

Chart shows diphtheria deaths per 100,000 population

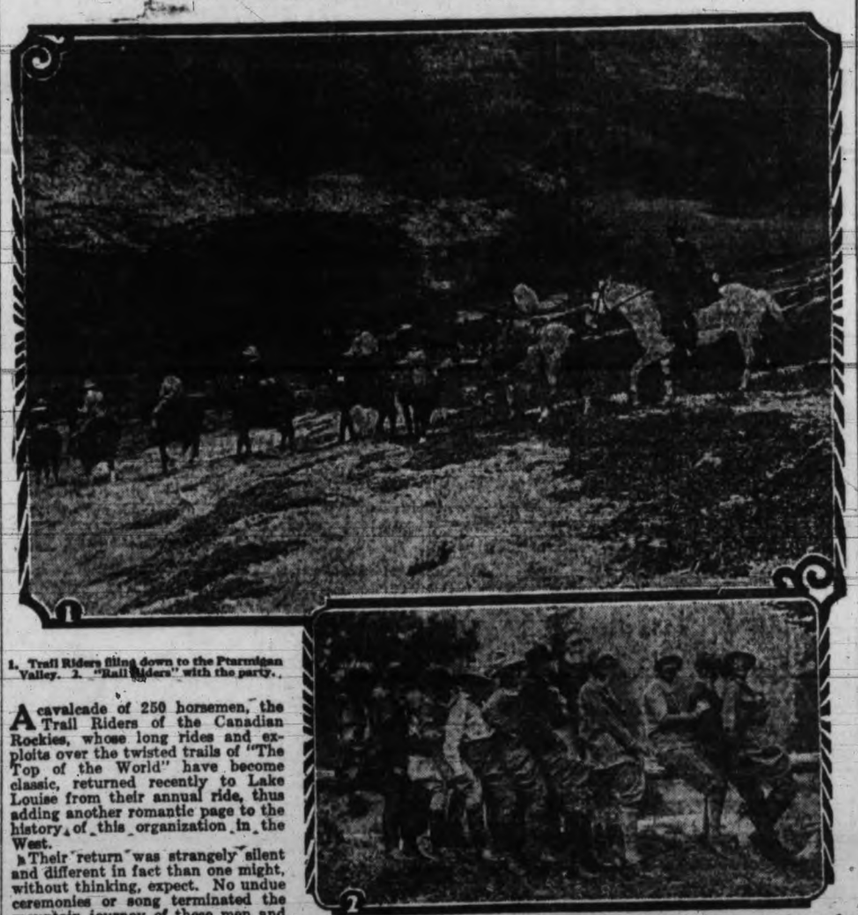
Trail Riders Finish Romantic Journey



1. Trail Riders filing down to the Ptarmigan Valley. 2. "Rail Riders" with the party.

A cavalcade of 250 horsemen, the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, whose long rides and exploits over the twisted trails of "The Top of the World" have become classic, returned recently to Lake Louise from their annual ride, thus adding another romantic page to the history of this organization in the West.

Their return was strangely silent and different in fact than one might, without thinking, expect. No undue ceremonies or song terminated the mountain journey of these men and women from all parts of America and Europe, for being true nature lovers they had, in their communion with the silences of the mountains found the solace therein. The spirit of their order, was, they knew, "a reverence for the majesty and beauty of nature". Their homage had been paid and their journey ended. They would revel in the memory of it silently, for they had learned, as someone has put it, that "great joys like great griefs are silent."

But the spirits of the Riders on the trail at all times ran high. While camped on the flat heights of Pt. Margin Pass a rodeo was held with no end of local western color.

Harry Knight, Canadian bucking horse champion, Guy Weadick of Calgary Stampede fame, Bill Bugby, Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance, and many other well known figures in the west accomplished the Trail Riders. This rodeo was carried on at an altitude of 8,000 feet and brought about an important discovery amongst the scientists of the party. It was found that a horse that bucked four feet into the air at the Calgary Stampede was only capable of a two-foot leap at this high altitude. Guy Weadick was in charge of this novel stampede above the clouds.

The great Pow-Wow which took place in the Ptarmigan Valley on August 14th, combined the Riders of two parties which had set out from Banff and Lake Louise with plans to meet at this point. The two parties met on the second day near Baker Lake. A picturesque scene they made with their bright scarves fluttering as the long line of horses cantered down the trails. Perhaps most picturesque of all the group of Philadelphia school girls in their breeches and cowboy hats, all expert riders and splendidly mounted. Each was eager to earn the gold button of the Trail Riders given to those who have ridden 500 miles in the saddle.

Artists, writers, scientists, explorers and others of international reputation made up the parties. In the ranks of these loyal devotees of the trail were men with such distinguished titles as Duke de Leuchtenberg, Count of Beauharnois, and the Marquise D'Albizzi. Other prominent members who recently completed the ride at Lake Louise were, Morley Roberts, John Murray Gibbon, Lawrence J. Burpee and Madge MacBeth all well known writers, and Carl Rungius, Leonard Richmond, R.B.A., A. C. Leighton and other prominent artists.

The directors have decided that next year's ride should be a six day one through the Assiniboine country covering over 100 miles. On the third day this party will be joined by a three-day contingent through Red Earth Creek and Mt. Ball.

KIWANIANS HOSTS TO BOYS AT PICNIC

Held Jolly "Father and Son" Outing at Telegraph Bay Yesterday

A merry party of Kiwanians and boys in whom the club is interested motored out to Telegraph Bay for the Father and Son picnic arranged by the under-privileged child committee of the club. Leaving the city shortly after 2 o'clock, the holiday-makers journeyed out to the bay and found ample provision for entertainment had been made by Rev. William Scott and his committee of Kiwanians.

A fine programme of land and water sports aroused the enthusiasm of the youngsters and adults, prizes being presented to the winners in the various events. The sports programme gave a fillip to appetite, and justice was done to the excellent supper served by the members. Through the kindness of Kiwanian Cecil Heaton, an Orthophonic supplied music.

The boys and their "big brothers" returned to the city tired but delighted with the enjoyable outing.

TORIES CRITICIZE PENSIONS SCHEME

Conservatives For Burrard and New Westminster at Burnaby

New Westminster, Aug. 26. — Pledging himself to support a workable age pensions scheme, a revaluation of lands under the soldier settlement board, and an Oriental Exclusion Act, W. G. McQuarrie, Conservative candidate for New Westminster addressed a large meeting in Burnaby last night.

"We should make conditions in Canada such that the people of Canada will become prosperous, and then we can invite immigration from other lands," he said, declaring that Canada at present was not prosperous as asserted by the Liberals.

Mr. McQuarrie was supported by Brigadier-General J. A. Clark, Conservative candidate for Burrard. Both declared that the Old Age Pension bill, as brought down by the Liberals at the last session, did not provide for the payment of pensions at all.

LADNER OPENS

Vancouver, Aug. 26.—Local, provincial and National problems were discussed by Leon J. Ladner, Conservative candidate for Vancouver South, before a meeting at Kerrisdale last night when he made the opening speech of his campaign.

Speaking of the importance of the North Arm of the Fraser River as a factor in the industrial growth of the municipalities in the Vancouver South constituency the speaker said that as a representative at Ottawa he had spared no effort to have as much done as possible.

Mr. Ladner referred to the Australian trade treaty which he said had been turned by the Liberals from a preference treaty to a free trade agreement.

Easy to Gain With Yeast and Iron
New Combination of Yeast with Vegetable Iron Quick Way to Build Up Weight

This new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with the vitamines that build up weight.
For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "Ironized yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.
Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.
Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore, they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. If you are under weight, do not enjoy good health, lacking in energy and force, "ironized yeast" tablets will pick you right up, and if they fail, you get your money back.
Sold by druggists at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package or sent direct from laboratory on receipt of price. Ironized Yeast Co., Fort Erie, Ontario, Canada. (Advt.)

Insurance Policy Forms Bulk of Valentino Estate

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 26.—The Hartford Courant says that a life insurance policy for $350,000 forms the bulk of the estate of Rudolph Valentino.

The insurance, according to a New York dispatch to the newspaper, was issued through Arthur W. Stebbins & Company of New York, in 1922, with Valentino's estate as the beneficiary. Most of the insurance was held by the New York Life Insurance Company.

CHAPTER XIV

The Country Club of Gaybrook Harbor, being over on the Park side, was a magnificent and ornate structure, built with a large outlay of money and a small outlay of taste. But it catered especially to the comforts of its members and its spacious verandas and big easy chairs were well patronized of a summer afternoon.

Al Cunningham strolled over there after the inquest was over.

He had his own opinions of the coroner's methods and procedure, but he determined not to express them, but merely give a report of the affair.

He found a small group of men, who were evidently waiting for him, and almost without preliminaries, he plunged into his subject and gave a brisk and accurate account of the inquest.

The men were those who had agreed to employ Cunningham as a private and amateur detective in the Heath matter, and they listened to his story, for the most part in silence.

Then Arthur Black said:

"I gather, Al, from the way you describe things, that you don't altogether approve of Osborn's technique?"

"Technique! He hasn't any. He hasn't sense enough to go in when it rains. I didn't mean to speak out in meetin' like this, but since you ask, I'll admit that I think he's about the worst apology for a coroner I ever saw!"

"Seen many?" asked Anderson, a little dryly.

"Well, I've seen a few," Cunningham stood his ground; "and I've read lots of detective stories, and I know how a coroner ought to behave."

"But he can't do anything more until they find Perry Heath," Black said. "That chap has got to be found. "There's no question of his guilt. Why, his running away is the same as a confession! And who else could it have been? As Al tells us, the house was so darned well locked up that no intruder could get in."

"Yes," Anderson interrupted, "and by the way, how did Heath get out?"

"It doesn't matter how he got out, since he did get out," Wallace Forbes declared. "We have to admit he's missing, so, why not assume he's the murderer? It seems not only the logical but the inevitable deduction."

"Well, I don't know," Cunningham said, thoughtfully. "Logical, yes. But not inevitable to my mind. You see, that man Osborn got no evidence of any value. Spoken evidence, I mean. He questioned his witnesses perfunctorily and very sketchily. He ought to have put those servants through a regular grilling and the house guests ought to have been questioned far more closely. That blue-eyed flapper knows a lot more than she told. Why, she knew about the thing before the maid went up to tell her—or else why was she crying to beat the band when the maid went in to her room?"

"Oh, come now, Al, that's pure surmise," Anderson objected.

"Maybe, but surmise ought to be looked into and tracked down. Then, that girl vamped the coroner so at the last, that when she told him she thought the murder was the work of a burglar, he just nodded his head and let up on her entirely. Fine sort of coroner, I'll tell the G.P.!"

"Well, old man," Black said, "then your work is cut out for you. The verdict of a coroner's jury doesn't close a case, and I rather fancy that man Mott won't let the matter rest as it is. He's a live wire, I happen to know, and you, Cunny, could do worse than to join issues and work with him."

"No, I prefer to go on my own."

"There speaks the true amateur! Of course you would. And I don't know but you're right about it. Can't you get around the Little Bright Eyes, and find out what she really knows? You don't suspect she is the principal, do you?"

"Mercy, no!" Cunningham looked shocked. "She's a mere kid. But I do think she's in the know—more or less."

"Then go to it, and find out."

"Will Cunny be let do this?" Anderson asked. "Will they want him nosing around in the Heath bungalow—it is a bungalow, I suppose, being over on that side."

"Yes. It's a bungalow," Forbes told him. "And one of the most attractive ones over there. Heath was an artist—"

"Why was? Do you think he's dead, too?" Black asked.

"No. But when any one disappears like that, you can't help thinking of him in the past tense. Well, Perry Heath is a pretty fair artist, and his home is one of the show places of the Gardens. Oh, it didn't cost a quarter as much as your place, Black, or as Anderson's home, but it's a comfortable enough shack. And now, I've no idea who's at the head of it. You see, Mr. and Mrs. Heath had no children and the two house guests over there can't be expected to stay on forever."

"Somebody said that Inman is Mrs. Heath's heir."

"I know. I mean, I know that's the report, but I don't know how true it is."

"Well, somebody's got to talk," said Black, decidedly. "You don't find things out any other way. And if there's nobody in particular to work this thing up, all the more reason why we old Harbor residents should take hold and do our best to run down the murderer of Myra Heath, whether it is her husband we're after or not."

"That's the way I look at it," Cunningham agreed. "Those two people over there and that bunch of servants must give up what they know. Somebody must make 'em do it. If Mott goes for the little beauty, he'll probably fall down on the job just as Osborn did, for she's a witch child, all right. But I shall steel my heart against her vamping and wrest the truth from her soul! Why was she crying bitterly when Carter went to tell her about Mrs. Heath? Don't tell me it was some sorrow of her own. Too much of a coincidence. Or, if it was, then she must cough up what the sorrow was. It can't hurt her as much to bare her secret grief as it can to be suspected of a premature knowledge of the tragedy!"

"Good Lord!" Al, but you have imagination!" Sam Anderson exclaimed. "I dare say it's a good asset for a detective, but don't let it run away with you."

"Oh, imagination helps only up to a certain point. After that you want tact, policy, cunning and all the Machiavellian traits to round up your facts. You want to hear everything you can. You want to see, quickly and surely. And most of all you need the psychologic instinct to guide you among the shoals of false clues that continually crop up."

"My Al, you do know a lot!" exclaimed Black. "I'd no idea we were employing such a modern and up to date sleuth!"

"And then, after a," Cunningham went on, "it largely depends on luck, and hard work, or—"he laughed—"work and hard luck!"

CHAPTER XV

"Well, you're philosophical, to say the least," Anderson told him. "But go ahead, old chap. Quiz the pretty little girl—I'd like to see that charmer—and put the her-cousin through a course of sprouts. My choice is for him. He's the only one I can see who has motive, which, I've been told, is the first thing to look for."

"I suppose Inman may be said to have had motive," Cunningham said, slowly, "but I know him, and though I'm not an intimate friend, I can't seem to see him brutally murdering his beautiful cousin, to inherit her property."

"Why not?" said Anderson, "I mean, granting the brutal murder, somebody must have done it. And presumably somebody in the house, if the stories of the careful locking up are all true. I don't eliminate the possibility of Heath's guilt but I can't see how he could get away afterward. He could, of course, have gone away before the crime, if the cousin did it."

"Well, I'll go there this evening, if they'll let me in, if not, I'll insist on an interview to-morrow. I shall say I represent the Country Club, which feels it has a right to use every effort to locate one of its members who is mysteriously absent."

"Yes, that's a good way to put it," commended Black. "You must get something, Cunny. As you say, that doddering coroner got nowhere."

"It's outrageous, the way such cases are handled by incompetent and ignorant officials!" Anderson declared. "By the time a clever or experienced detective can get busy on them, the important clues have been obliterated. And not only that, but the bungling operatives are so cocksure and self-sufficient that they persuade the public of their own efficiency when they have none at all."

"That's right, Sam," Black agreed. "Well, get busy, Cunningham. Hunt down Heath, if you can. Get all the information you can from the people at the bungalow, and let's cover the Country Club with glory by solving the mystery of the murder of Myra Heath!"

"Heath will come back of his own accord," Anderson said, insistently. "And you'll find clues or evidences pointing to Larry Inman as the perpetrator of the crime. Of course, this is pure surmise on my part, but all the evidence seems to lie in that direction."

"Maybe," Cunningham said, thoughtfully, "I'm not sure you're not right. But innocent or guilty, it ought not to be hard to find Heath. Men can't drop out of sight so easily. I've heard, the department have already put detectives on his track, but I've heard of no response as yet. Though, of course, it's too soon to expect it. I don't know Heath awfully well, after all. Do any of you fellows know anything—er—unsatisfactory about him?"

"Shady, you mean?" asked Black.

"Yes—or queer—peculiar. Eccentric. Anything, in fact, out of the ordinary. The sort of thing a chap wouldn't tell of an acquaintance, except in such circumstances as these we're now facing. If any one knows anything detrimental to Perry Health, I hold it is his duty to tell it."

"I agree with that," Anderson spoke decidedly. "Personally, I know nothing. I'm not very well acquainted with him, but when I learned he was to be a rival candidate for the club presidency, I naturally looked up his record."

"Where'd you find it?" asked Cunningham, eagerly.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Soda Pop

Copyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"That's sassafras, my boys!" said Uncle Wiggily

"Ah, ha! I smell something good!" said Uncle Wiggily one day when he was out in the woods with Holly and Tolly, two of his little rabbit boys. "I smell something very good!"

"Is it ice-cream cones you smell, Daddicums," asked Holly.

"No, but almost as nice," answered the rabbit gentleman.

"Is it clover pie?" asked Tolly.

"No, but it is almost as nice," answered the rabbit gentleman. Then he began to dig beneath a bush and soon he pulled out of the ground some pieces of root. "That's sassafras, my boys!" said Uncle Wiggily, taking a smell of the spicy, soft, earthy bark on the outside of the roots.

"What's it good for?" Holly wanted to know. But his father was too busy digging in another place to answer him.

"I smell something else that is most delicious," said the rabbit gentleman, and when he had dug up another root he said, "There it is—sarsasprilla!"

"What's it good for?" asked Tolly, but his father was now too busy gnawing some green and brown bark off a tree to answer. Soon Mr. Longears had a lot of bark gnawed off and he said:

"Now, I have everything I need except some sugar, water and yeast. I have birch bark, sassafras root and sarsasprilla root. Ah, there's a word for you—sar-sass-a-per-il-la," and he said it slowly, so as to get the full effect.

"What are you going to do with all those things, Daddicums?" asked Holly.

"I am going to make soda pop, or, as some might call it, root beer," answered the bunny gentleman, "or, as still others might designate it—ginger tonic."

"And may we have some soda pop?" asked Tolly.

"Indeed, you may," answered Mr. Longears, and when he had hopped home to his hollow stump bungalow, he mixed up the roots and bark in a kettle with sugar, water and yeast and put the soda pop into bottles which he tightly corked.

"What's the yeast for?" asked Jingle, who, with Jangle, watched Uncle Wiggily corking the bottles.

"The yeast makes the soda pop and fizz and have foam," was the answer. Nurse Jane helped Uncle Wiggily carry the bottles of soda pop, or root beer, down into cellar. "It will be a hot day to-morrow and the cool drink will make us feel fine," went on Mr. Longears.

"Oh! can't we drink it right away?" asked Tolly.

"No, we must wait over night for the yeast to foam up and make the pop fizzle and foamy," said Nurse Jane.

So the little rabbit children, forty 'leven of them, or more, went to bed to dream of how wonderful the soda pop would taste next day. The sun set fiery red, which meant hot weather on the morrow.

But in the middle of the night something happened. Uncle Wiggily, his wife, Nurse Jane and all the forty 'leven little bunnies were awakened by hearing hanging, cracking sounds in the cellar.

"Oh! Daddicums," cried Holly, "Somebody is taking our soda pop!"

"I'll see about that!" shouted Mr. Longears. With a bottle of lightning bugs, which he used for a flash lamp, Mr. Longears went down cellar. And there, in the middle of the floor, stood the Bob Cat with one eye all black and bruised, and holding a bottle of soda pop in one paw.

"What do you want?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Nothing!" snarled the Bob Cat. "I got all I wanted and more too!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily as the Bob Cat ran out of the cellar. "I see what happened. I put too much yeast in one of the bottles. The Bob Cat went in to take some of my soda pop and picked up this yeasty bottle. He was trying to open it, when the cork flew out and banged him in the eye. Ha! Ha! I guess he had enough soda pop!"

And so the Bob Cat had. But this was the only bottle that had too much yeast in it, all the others being just right. And the next day, which was very hot, the bunny and the forty 'leven little bunnies drank the soda pop, or root beer, and felt very cool.

So from this we learn that if the Bob Cat has a black eye that is a sign he has been taking soda pop. And if the gold fish doesn't forget to take his umbrella when he goes to the moving pictures, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the hollow log.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, Aug. 26 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—In spite of the high renewal rate for call loans to-day the market gave a good account of itself. Buoyancy in the rails acted as a favorable influence as well as strength in special issues. Prominent in one respect was the early strength in Radio Corporation, on the announcement of a suit decided in its favor and this same suit was believed to have promoted selling in some of the other radio companies though there names were not mentioned in the suit decision. Texas Gulf Sulphur was also in good demand following the increase in the dividend and the announcement of the plan of changing the capital stock in ratio of four for one.

The constructive character of the rail earnings reports was one of the outstanding influences favorable affecting to-day's buying operations in the carriers and of the prominent carriers the Southern Pacific figures were especially interesting.

To-day's buying operations in good part represented buying by some of the recent sellers.

New York, Aug. 26 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct Wall Street wire)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Confidence regarding the underlying strength of the economic situation was strongly reflected in to-day's trading on the stock exchange.

Bearish forces, which had been working for lower prices with great aggressiveness during the first half of the week, found their efforts were meeting increasing resistance and many shorts gave up the battle, helping to bring about the improved tone displayed by General Motors, Steel, and other speculative leaders.

Call money renewed at five per cent., the highest initial rate in more than two weeks.

However, this stiffening was recognized as incidental to September first requirements and the fact that it existed is not depressing influence. Neither were reports taken seriously that the Federal Reserve Board was making this week in Washington to review the credit situation.

As a matter of fact, the Federal Reserve Board is constantly in session, and may be depended upon at all times to be fully aware of the situation existing at the various regional institutions.

Moreover, action regarding higher discount rates, which is the gossip that has been stalking in financial circles, must come from the individual banks, the Federal Reserve Board only having veto power after the step has been taken. With the concern over money condition somewhat relieved, the whole market took on a higher complexion.

Rails continued to act well, and new highs for the year were established in the northwestern group.

In the industrial section, the improved performance on part of the leaders supplied a good background for bullish demonstrations in individual issues like U.S. Rubber, Yellow Coach, Warner Bros., Reading Coal and Howe Sound. Call money renewed at five per cent, the stiffest initial charge since August 10. This development caused some selling toward the end of the first hour. However, these offerings were absorbed in good style, and the main body of stocks continue to display a good tone.

Radio Corporation displayed special strength, advancing to a high of 47¾, up 2⅝ from the previous close. This spurt was stimulated by the suit won by the Corporation against Splitdorf Elec. Co., restraining the latter from using a patented turning system in the manufacture of receiving sets.

Following adjournment of the Consolidated Cigar meeting until September 12, the stock ran up. This strength was interpreted to mean that the stock would be placed on a $7 dividend basis when the directors convened again.

Great Northern sold at 79 3-4 on prospects of increased dividends. U.S. Rubber was an outstanding stock of strength in the industrials, reaching new high ground on the movement at 64 3-4, up 1 7-8.

Although reports of rubber and tire companies for the first six months were not up to expectations, the outlook for the second half is considered much better. There was a hesitancy on the part of the public to purchase tires at prevailing prices when crude rubber prices were declining sharply.

To stimulate buying, many makers reduced prices and since the last cut sales have been mounting. Then, too, much of the high-priced crude rubber has been worked off and the makers have been able to purchase at lower levels.

New York, Aug. 26.—It may be well on the weakness of rails that come into the market when the industrial list weakens to take advantage of the situation and buy rails, as it may be the last time the opportunity will come in these issues during September and well into October, Hornblower and Weeks say to-day.

New York, Aug. 26.—Board of Governors of New York Stock Exchange have granted the petition for an extra holiday on the Saturday preceding Labor Day.

Vienna, Aug. 26.—Hungarian National Bank reduces discount rate to 6 per cent. from 7 per cent.

WHEAT POOL PAYS $1,000,000 MORE

Regina, Aug. 26.—Cheques totaling more than $1,000,000 have been placed in the mails by the Saskatchewan Coarse Grains Pool; addressed to its Saskatchewan and Manitoba members, representing the final payment on the 1925-26 crop, the first crop handled since the pool was organized.

The cost of operating the pool for the first year is a shade under half-cent, or to be exact .0049 per bushel, while the carrying charges were .0081 per bushel, or a little better than three-fourths of a cent. Last year in the operation of the wheat pool the carrying charges were handled by the Central Selling Agency, whereas this year these charges are being taken care of by the provincial pools in both the wheat and coarse grains pools.

The gross amount of the final payment of the coarse grains pools crop for 1925-26 was approximately $1,200,000, and from this amount has been deducted the charges of 1 per cent. for commercial reserves and the elevator reserves of 1c a bushel for oats, 1½c for barley and rye, and 3c for flax.

New York, Aug. 26.—While raw sugar prices were unchanged to-day the market was reactive with a sale of 26,700 bags of Porto Rican to an outport refiner at 4.70. It developed late yesterday that about 150,000 bags of Cuban were sold to local and outport refiners at 4.25.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—After holding steady during the first part of the session, when the demand was active and good selling and buying recorded, to-day's wheat market went into a slump near the close, when the demand for all futures lagged, but selling pressure continued.

Spreading operations, buying in Winnipeg and selling Chicago and sales to houses with seaboard connections, featured trade again to-day.

Wheat closed weak, two cents lower, with October at 134¾, December at 132⅞ and May at 137¼.

The decline in wheat was reflected in the coarse grains, and all commodities lost ground. Trade was light. Flax prices were about 1¼ cents lower.

A fair demand existed in cash grains, but meagre offerings hampered trading.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Aug. 26 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat: The market after holding well for most part of the session finally gave way under pressure from hedging sales and closed practically at the bottom showing losses of 2 cents in all months. Prices were forced 1 cent through the bids and some buying against these held the market from making further declines. The market had a heavy appearance throughout, although there was a good class of buying at times but there was plenty of wheat for sale especially on little flurries. Weather conditions continue favorable and no moisture shown at any point.

Harvesting is in full swing in all districts and the threshing is now proceeding rapidly in several districts. There were twenty cars of new wheat in the inspections to-day, and deliveries by farmers at country points are daily increasing. Liverpool market was firmer than expected, closing 1-2 to 3-4 higher, after being only 1-8 up earlier in the day.

New York reported some export business worked but the volume was only small. There was a fair demand for No. 3 Northern by those who are short on this grade which is practically cleaned up and as a result the spread increased over the close last night. Only a light trade was passing in all other grades and spreads were about unchanged but are showing signs of weakening. Showers are forecast in the West for to-morrow but unless fairly general will make little difference. We continue to favor bulge sales believing the market is due to work lower.

Coarse Grains: Dull featureless markets which were following the trend of wheat and all lost ground. There is a small nominal demand but supplie sare plentiful to take care of all requirements and hedging pressure is appearing in barley and rye.

Flax: Weaker in sympathy with the general decline, and final figures were 1 3-4 to 2 cents down. Fair buying on the scale down but volume small.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire).—Wheat opened fractionally lower on selling from local professionals, but encountered good support from houses with seaboard and Chicago connections. The market developed firm undertone and advanced to previous day's close, but on the bulge prominent interests were free sellers and support disappeared, market declining gradually under the influence of selling by elevator companies, closing 2 cents lower.

Cables were firm but ignored by the trade in view of continued fine weather through the Canadian West. The market to-day began to feel the influence of hedging pressure for the first time, and as anticipated, support was inadequate. The American markets were firm early, but eventually declined in sympathy with local weakness.

Export in all positions estimated half-million bushels, a fair portion of which was Manitobas. A report from Fargo indicated crop conditions turning out much better than anticipated.

Van Duzen-Harrington reported some very good yields in American Northwest, although some damage from sprouted grain. One of the local millers yesterday received the movement from the country will twenty-six cars of new wheat, and very shortly show a sharp increase, as good weather is prevailing everywhere. Argentine shipments were estimated at 1,850,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Aug. 26 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat: Developed weakness in the late trade after an early display of strength. Bearish crop news from the northwest and easiness in the Winnipeg pit offset the claims of healthier export business. The Russian shipments of nearly 1,000,000 bushels for the week and the estimated clearances of 1,850,000 bushels from the Argentine compared with 500,000 bushels shipped last week also had a depressing effect. There seemed to be considerable northwest selling through various channels and it looked like hedging pressure. The seaboard confirmed sales of 300,000 bushels wheat taken for export and initiated that business was larger.

Stocks of wheat at Minneapolis for the last five days increased 500,000 bushels. Premiums on cash wheat here were unchanged to one cent higher. During the last few days the better quality of grade wheat has advanced 7 to 10 cents. Premiums on cash wheat in southwest were about steady. Shipments of wheat from Chicago continued large, totalling 894,000 bushels against receipts of 165,000 bushels. The pool was stated to be selling in Winnipeg. The market promises to remain erratic pending the rush movement of Spring crops and we believe a trading position should be followed.

Corn: Ran into active local selling in the last hour with houses with Northwest connections also offering and dropped sharply. Early in the day the market moved in higher ground. The weather over the corn belt was a little more favorable and crop reports satisfactory. Country offerings of corn were termed moderate over night. The commercial demand continued apparently active and basis was unchanged to 1¼ cent higher.

Oats: Trailed other grains to lower levels in last hour. Movement of oats to terminals is small. Oats will probably sympathize with general trend of the market.

Rye: Showed relative steadiness compared with wheat much of the days but finished slightly easier. There was buying by houses with Eastern connections while on the hard spots hedging sales filtered. Bids were reported under the market.

Chicago, Aug. 26 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire).—Wheat—The better weather in Canada and American northwest with prospects of an early movement of wheat to terminals, accompanied by hedging pressure, proved too much for the wheat market to-day. Prices held during most of the session on some reports of export business and a stronger cast situation, but support was not adequate.

Winnipeg and Minneapolis markets were weaker relatively than Chicago, and they act as if they were adjusting themselves to the near movement of cash wheat. We continue to believe that the market will decline as hedging pressure increases. Weather for corn is more favorable and consumptive demand continues slow.

Only hope of bulls at present is an early frost and continue to feel a better demand for cash article must be experienced before any good in corn. The demand for oats is not large enough at this time to hold the market against hedging pressure, and an expected increase in receipts Oats will probably follow corn. Some hedging by Northwest noted in rye. Some reports of export business, but no figures given out. Rye will probably follow wheat.

Ask for Mr. "JUNKIE"

The Central Power-house of Publicity!

Nowadays one central "power house" can furnish electricity for running street-cars, lighting a city—or for cooking a dinner or running a sewing machine. What was mere "hallucination" about electricity not so long ago is now "mere matter-of-fact."

Nowadays, also, one central "Power-House of Publicity"—such as this newspaper represents and is—can furnish publicity to one man sufficient to "run a store" or to develop en entire suburban town; and to another enough to rent a furnished room or to sell a second-hand sewing machine.

Electricity itself has not a tithe of the uses that are possible to publicity—nor is it any more certain and effective in its workings and results.

Whatever task you have for it, Publicity is a Tireless Force That Never Shirks—That Never Proves to be "Too Expensive."

HOROSCOPE

"The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel"

(Copyright)

THURSDAY, AUGUST 26, 1926

Neptune to-day is in benefic aspect, according to astrology. The Sun and Uranus are adverse.

This should be an auspicious time for plans, as the mental vision is supposed to be reliable and the judgment consequently wise.

Oil and oil interests are to prosper greatly. New discoveries and new processes of obtaining the products of the earth are prophesied.

This should be a favorable date for starting on far journeys and the stars appear to indicate that the travel mania will be widespread even after the close of the vacation period.

Secret organizations are now under a planetary government, which indicates growth of membership and power.

Success through choice food stuffs, canned goods and table delicacies is supposed to be encouraged when Neptune smiles on the Earth.

While this rule prevails there may be a tendency to cultivate romance and to seek it rather casually.

Interest in spiritualism and psychic investigation is to be stronger than ever in the Winter, it is foretold.

Science is to turn attention to phenomena which appear to prove the theories of the occultists.

With the coming of the Autumn season there are signs that appear to denote much trouble for the United States, which is to lose one or two statesmen at a time when their advice is most valuable.

Violent earthquakes and mining disasters may be expected before Winter owing to the malign influence of Mars approaching an opposition to Saturn.

Better foreign financial conditions are presaged for the Winter, but the United States is to have new responsibilities.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of much happiness in the coming year. The young will marry.

Children born on this day may have distinct literary gifts. Much change and travel may mark their careers.

A friend encountered a Scotsman, just coming back from the Florida golf course, leading an alligator along.

"What are you doing with the alligator?" he asked.

"The son of a gun has got my ball," replied the Scotsman.—New York Sun.

Intelligence Test

Remember the tests you had to take at school? Well, here's another one, but you don't have to "cram" for it. Just write out your answers to these questions and then compare your list with the correct answers printed tomorrow:

1—Who is this popular movie star?
2—What is "Babe" Ruth's full name?
3—What is Phi Beta Kappa?
4—What is meant by perpetual motion?
5—What is an auk?
6—What is aqua-regia?
7—What is the average duration of life of a whale?
8—Can a naturalized citizen become president of the United States?
9—What are the ten commandments called?
10—Who was Franz Liszt?

The correct answers to the questions found on page (100) are:
1—The reading lamp is not connected with a light socket.
2—Headquarters of the London police.
3—Rome.
4—"I came, I saw, I conquered."
5—Mount McKinley, Alaska.
6—Morning picture star.
7—I saw him and her together.
8—36.
9—William Lyon.
10—Alberta.

HORSE RACING

Cleveland, Aug. 26.—Attco, the Canadian-owned pacer, driven by Al. (Humy) Morrison, won Forest City 2.09 pace at the North Randall Grand Circuit races yesterday, defeating Myrtle Baxter, odds-on favorite, which won the first heat. Attco was an outsider in the betting, paying $693 for a $10 result ticket. This race marked the first 1926 defeat of Myrtle Baxter, she previously having won seven races.

The North Randall $3,000 2.12 trot sharing honors with the Forest City stake, was won by Traux, the Chicago-owned horse driven by Vic Fleming. Traux might have won in straight heats but for a break in the stretch in the second heat which was won by Donald A.

Will Dickerson of Goshen, N.Y., furnished a surprise with Guy Trojan, in the 2.04 trot, winning the second and third heats and race, and paying $181 for $10 in the result mutuels. Tommy Murphy won the first heat with Hollyrood Leonard which trotted the second fastest mile of the year in a race, 2.02 4-5.

Phil O'Neal, the Hartford, Conn., gelding, won the 2.10 pace in straight heats.

Wherever There are Flies use FLY-TOX

Soap and Water Are Not Enough

You must kill disease-carrying insects

SCRUB, scour. But if there is a fly in your kitchen it isn't clean. The fly is the filthiest insect known. It messes in unspeakably dirty things. Then it flies here and there, dropping its diseased muck everywhere.

Use Fly-Tox. It is clean, fragrant, stainless, safe, sure. Fly-Tox is a scientific insecticide. It was developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Fellowship.

Fly-Tox does not cost much—half-pints fifty cents. Nearly all grocery and drug stores sell it.

SCHOOL COSTS SHOW INCREASE

Board "Bluffed" Into Granting $600 Increment to Substitute, it is Asserted

Local Council of Women Propose Department of Home Economics at Victoria High

Figures on the rising cost of education in Victoria were presented to the City School Board last night in the report of its finance committee, which showed expenditures of $294,587 incurred to date, compared with $279,060 in the same period last year. Of this sum teachers' salaries, exclusive of the night school, totaled $217,890, compared with $208,343 at this date in 1925. The estimated expenditures for the year are placed at $495,308, of which sum $294,587 has now been disbursed.

Trustee J. L. Beckwith, chairman of the finance committee, took exception to the action taken by the board in closing a contract with a substitute teacher appointed to the faculty of Victoria College. The teacher in question had been engaged in Vancouver at a salary of $2,400 per annum, but on appointment here would start at $3,000, he pointed out.

ALLEGE BOARD "BLUFFED"

The board had had no alternative in this case, it was reported, as the teacher in question held out for the $3,000 stipend, and refused to come under that figure. The board had been "bluffed" into meeting the demand, commented Mr. Beckwith, and the incident passed.

In a report of the building and grounds committee Trustee H. O. Litchfield showed the extent of repairs done at city schools during the vacation period, and reported all buildings in good shape for the term to come.

In a communication from the Victoria Trades and Labor Council the board was informed that the council viewed "with surprise and regret" its action in paying carpenters at the rate of only $5 a day; while the current wage, it was set out, was $6.50. If the Trades and Labor Council had the administration of public funds it might view the question differently, it was said. The complaint was referred to the finance committee for report.

CAMPAIGN ROSTRUMS

Voting to display an even-handed impartiality in political affairs, the board agreed that graded school buildings may be used for election meetings during the week of September 7 to September 14, if these do not conflict with school purposes, and all expenses are paid by those arranging for the meetings.

A request that contribution boxes be placed in the schools for donations to the Solarium Fund was deferred on the explanation of the fact that the schools have already contributed heavily to the fund, and that later in the year the time would be more opportune for further donations within the power and desire of the pupils.

HOME ECONOMICS

In a request from the Local Council of Women the board was asked to institute a department of Home Economics at Victoria High School. The communication offered the services of a delegation of the Local Council of Women who would be glad to meet the trustees later in the year and explain their views on the question, it was said.

At the suggestion of Municipal Inspector George H. Deane the communication was tabled. A report on the middle school system, now in course of preparation, had a distinct bearing on this subject, and should be first considered, it was argued.

Progress was reported on the high school cafeteria plan, whereby students on the resumption of the school term will be able to secure noon-day meals prepared by an expert dietician.

After a routine session the board went into committee of the whole to deal with departmental affairs.

Overpowered by Desire to Kill

New York, Aug. 26.—Overpowered by what he told police was a desire to kill the man with whom he studied philosophy, Emanuel Silverstein, 19, entered a Brooklyn restaurant today and struck Julius Calish, 63, on the head with a hammer, it is charged. Calish died, and Silverstein is held on a charge of homicide. The boy said he had studied with Calisch for the last two years.

WORK ON DISPLAY PLEASES VISITORS

Marigold Flower Show and Exhibition of Domestic Work Praised

Marigold, Aug. 26.—Marigold's eleventh annual flower show and exhibition of women's work, under the auspices of the Garden City Women's Institute, was held yesterday in the Marigold Hall and visitors were loud in their praise of the displays of variety and color. The splendid work of organization was in a great degree responsible for the success of the flower show, and the painstaking care of the ladies whose work was on display added to the attractiveness of the exhibit.

Floral displays were there in profusion and a mass of beautifully blended color.

An unusual feature of the show was the domestic science section, where boys competed with girls and carried off the highest honors in two different classes.

There was a display of work by the students of the McKenzie Avenue School, consisting of geometrical designs, maps by the senior pupils, and paper work by the primary grades. The uniform excellence here made judging difficult. The MacLean system of penmanship, adopted in the schools of British Columbia, and its application displayed, showed what an effect it was having in moulding little hands into careful, able writers.

Judges of the various sections were: Sewing and fancy work, Miss Revenhill; vegetables, fruits and flowers, Professor Robertson; domestic science, Mrs. S. W. Raven.

At the monthly meeting of the Garden City Institute on September 9, the prizes for the annual display will be awarded.

Three Outstanding Improvements in Balloon Tires

First— LATEX-TREATED WEB CORDS—eliminating internal friction and heat.

Second—SPRAYED RUBBER—the purest and most lasting form in which rubber is used.

Third— LOW-PRESSURE TREADS—for Dominion Royal Cord Balloon Tires, which give maximum comfort, to be had only from low inflation, without undue wear.

These improvements, exclusive features of Dominion Royal Cord Balloons, result in greater mileage, more tire value and greater comfort in driving.
